BITTER ATTACK ON AMERICA

Brazilian Journalist Says
United States Is the
Prussia of Tomorrow

Accuses U. S. of Fomenting
Revolution in Mexico—
Belittles Our Part in War

RIO JANEIRO, Sunday, May 11.—

An attack upon the United States is made by Madeiros de Albuquerque, generally considered one of the leading journalists of Brazil, in a long interview printed today in A Noite:

"I return from the United States," he says, "with much enthusiasm for England, Italy, France, Belgium, Japan and, perhaps above all, Mexico."

He accuses the United States of fomenting revolution in Mexico and says that "Brazil is considered by the United States only as a possible future colony." He adds: "The United States wants to obtain as part of the payment of the debt of France and England, a bond for Brazil's debts to those powers. On the day this is realized, Brazil will be sold to the United States, which on the first occasion we fail to meet the interest, will do to us as she has done to Central American nations."

Senor Albuquerque belittles the part the United States took in the war, saying that the only American victory was the battle at St. Mihiel, which, he says, was "gained with English artillery and French aviation" and attacks the censorship which he remarks has "prevented those and other facts from becoming known." He attacks the Monroe Doctrine and President Wilson, ridiculing the president's activities in the peace congress. He concludes by saying: "The United States incontestably is the Prussia of tomorrow."

LITTLE GIRL WAS BADLY SCALDED

Julia Talubowski, aged 2 years, and residing at 15 Davidson street, was badly scalded about the body this morning, when she fell into a tub of boiling water at the home of her parents. The accident occurred shortly before 11 o'clock and a few minutes later the little girl was rushed to St. John's hospital, where it is feared she will not recover.

Arthur D. Prince Favorably
Impressed With Future of American Business Abroad

Arthur D. Prince, of this city, returned home yesterday after a two months' trip in England and France taken primarily for business purposes yet presenting an opportunity for intensely interesting observation, such as has been afforded to but few men in Lowell or any other New England city. Mr. Prince after three weeks in England, travelled extensively in France, visiting Paris and going into the southern part of the country, and to the north over many of the battle fronts to Chateau Thierry, Belleau Wood and Rheims and at the former headquarters of the 26th Division.

He comes back firmly impressed with the splendid future of American business abroad, as he believes it will be months and possibly years before either England or France can adjust themselves through the period of reconstruction to pre-war conditions of business and trade. Export business in these countries is impossible for a long time, he believes due to the utter lack of raw materials and the scar-

BIG OVERSUBSCRIPTION

District Now $300,000 Over
Its Quota, With Town
Reports Still Incomplete

From all indications, North Middlesex district will over-subscribe her Victory loan quota by $300,000, and possibly by an even wider margin. Small individual subscriptions continued to trickle into local banks today, and with an uncertainty concerning the exact amounts of town totals still prevailing the complete district quota is not yet available. As it now stands only one town, Ayer, failed to reach its quota, but the 19 others, almost without exception, went well over. Notable work was done in Bedford, Dunstable, Groton, Reading, Shirley, Westford and Wilmington.

Lowell's total now stands at $5,441,200 plus, an over-subscription of $186,200, but this will be considerably augmented today and tomorrow. The city's total so far has been secured through $913 subscriptions, and with the number of subscriptions in Ayer and Tyngsboro missing, the district shows 13,123 subscribers.

The bank tabulation follows:

Union National	$2,333,150
Appleton National	1,633,500
Old Lowell	235,700
Middlesex Trust Co.	352,200
Lowell Trust Co.	190,350
Waverly National	189,350
Savings banks totals not included above	693,050
Boston credits	244,900

Grand total for Lowell...$5,892,900
Deduct town credits...451,700
Net Lowell total...$5,441,200

The subscriptions from the savings banks, amounting to $2,824,000, and including $1,230,950 from the City Institution for Savings; $600,000, Lowell Institution for Savings; $500,000, Central Savings Bank; $200,000 Mechanics Savings Bank; $100,000, Lowell Five Cent Savings Bank; $100,000, Washington Savings Institution, and $93,050, Merrimack River Savings Bank, are included in the above National Bank totals.

Not since the never-to-be-forgotten night before a certain Fourth of July some 10 or 12 years ago, when "Joe" Piske staged his historic stampan parade up and down the highways and byways of Centralville and attracted a gathering from all parts of the city whose size necessitated a squad of police hanging a S.R.O. sign at the entrance to Central bridge has the thriving and industrious community on the other side of the Merrimack plotted and planned such a brilliant, successful and happy public celebration as that which she tendered her 500 soldier and sailor sons, born of the world war, Saturday afternoon and evening. It was a "large" day for Centralville, an entertaining day for the thousands

MORE PAY FOR MILEAGE

Congressman Rogers Issues
Statement of Interest to
Discharged Service Men

Any Lowell soldier, sailor or member of the marine corps who has been discharged from the service and who has received travel pay or mileage to bring him home from the place of his discharge at the rate of three and a half cents per mile, has the right to ask the government for an additional cent and a half in view of the act passed by congress on Feb. 28, according to a statement by Congressman John Jacob Rogers today.

From Nov. 11 until within a short time ago discharged men have been receiving only three and a half cents per mile. There was some doubt as to how the new act should be interpreted and as a result the war department continued to pay at the old rate.

Now, however, discharged men are entitled to recoup to the extent of a cent and a half a mile by applying at the office of Congressman Rogers in the Hildreth building where he will be supplied by an application blank and a circular giving information on the matter.

The statement issued by Congressman Rogers today is as follows:

"The act of Feb. 28, 1919, provided that enlisted men honorably discharged from the army, navy or marine corps since Nov. 11th last, the date of the armistice, should receive travel pay at the rate of five cents per mile from the place of discharge to the place of original muster into the service. The war department originally had some doubts as to the proper interpretation of this act and has been making payments for travel on the basis of the old rate of three and one-half cents per mile. Under a decision just reached and announced, all soldiers, sailors and marines discharged from the service since Nov. 11th, who have received travel pay at the rate of three and one-half cents per mile, are entitled to a further payment at the rate of one and one-half cents per mile.

"The necessary application blanks were printed only Saturday and I have had a supply of them rushed to Lowell for the convenience of Lowell veterans. Any soldier or sailor or marine desiring to make application for the additional travel pay may obtain one of these blank forms and a circular giving full information by calling at my office in the Hildreth building."

mately one-fifth of the city's minimum quota of $10,000, or about $2000, already raised.

While Thomas J. Fitzgerald, treasurer of the campaign, had no official tabulation prepared this afternoon, the number of subscriptions which were received together with the work done by the soliciting teams netted a sum generally conceded at the $2000 mark and this will undoubtedly be substantially boosted by this evening.

Among the subscriptions received today was a check for $25 from Stephen Rochette of the Lowell Motor Mart who wrote on his check: "May Ireland be free."

The campaign was opened with a preliminary mass meeting last evening

War Board Insists Strikers
Abide by Award, Effective
Until End of War

Union Claims War Ended
Nov. 11—Board Says War
On Till Treaty Is Signed

WASHINGTON, May 12.—The war labor board prepared a telegram today to the officers of the International Association of Mill, Pulp & Sulphite Workers, demanding that the union abide by the board's award, which is effective until the end of the war. The action resulted from strikes at various plants of the International Paper Co.

The union has claimed that the war ended Nov. 11, and has announced that the workers are free to seek increased wages and improved working conditions. The war labor board takes the position that the war is not over until the treaty of peace is ratified and that the action of the union practically repudiates the agreement. The award was made by the board in conjunction with the federal trade commission, which investigated production costs and established a price for print paper and similar products on the basis of the wages and costs.

All Plants Affected

GLENS FALLS, N. Y., May 12.—Nearly all the 36 plants of the International Paper Co. throughout the country were idle today, involving approximately 5000 unionized workers, according to reports received here. The strike began yesterday for increased wages. In all of the plants from which word has been received, the unions have permitted firemen to remain on duty to care for the fires and boilers. The local plants idle were those at Corinth and at Fort Edward. At Corinth, police guarded the mills. Union leaders said they did not expect a prolonged strike.

AMERICANS NOT DOLLAR CHASERS

Pres. Wilson Enters Strong
Disclaimer of Idea That Americans Are Materialistic

Tells Paris Audience Americans Are Ready To Die
For Liberty

PARIS, Saturday, May 10.—President Wilson in his address today to the French Academy of Moral and Political Sciences, entered a strong disclaimer of the idea that the American people were largely materialists, or dollar worshippers.

"I have had in recent months our deep sense of privilege," he said. "I have been keenly aware that there have been times when the people of Europe haven't understood the people of the United States. We have been too often supposed to have been devoted chiefly, if not entirely, to material enterprises. We have been supposed, in the common phrase, to worship the almighty dollar."

"We have accumulated wealth, sir, we have devoted ourselves to material enterprises with extraordinary success, but there has underlain all of that, all the time, a common sense of humanity and a common sympathy with the high principles of justice, which has never grown dim even in the field of enterprise; and it has been my very great joy in these recent months to interpret the people of the United States to the people of the world."

"I have not done more, sir, I have not uttered in my public capacity my own private thoughts. I have uttered what I have known to be the thoughts of the great people whom I represent. I have uttered the things that have been stored up in their hearts and purpose from the time of our birth as a nation."

Ready to Die For Liberty

At this point the president declared that the American people, who came into the world consecrated to liberty, were ready to cast their lot with those whose liberty was imperiled.

"This is the spirit of the people of the United States," he continued, "and they have been privileged to send two million men over here to tell you so. It has been their great privilege to not merely to tell you so in words, but to tell you so in men and material—the pouring out of their wealth and the offering of their blood."

President Wilson alluded to his studies in the field of political science and of the attempts he had made "to put into the words of learning the thought of a nation, the attitude of a people towards public affairs." He continued:

Read Much Bad German
"A great many of my colleagues in American university life got their training, even in political science, as so many men in civil circles did, in German universities. I have been obliged at various times to read a great deal of bad German, difficult German, awkward German, and I have been aware that the thought was as awkward as the phrase, that the thought was rooted in a fundamental misconception of the state and of the political life of peoples."

And it has been a portion of my efforts to disengage the thought of American university teachers from the misguided instruction which they had received on this side of the sea. Their American spirit anticipated most of them as a matter of course, but the form of the thought some times misled them. They speak too often of the 'state' as a thing which would ignore the individual as a thing which was privileged to dominate the fortune of men by a sort of inherent and sacred authority.

Freedom of Speech
"Now, as an utter democrat, I have never been able to accept that view of the state. My view of the state is that it must stop and listen to what I have to say, no matter how humble I am, and that each man has the right to have his voice heard and his counsel heeded, insofar as it is worthy of him."

"I have always been among those who believe that the greatest freedom of speech was the greatest safety, because if a man is a fool the best thing to do is to encourage him to advertise the fact by speaking. It cannot be so easily discovered if you allow him to remain silent and look wise, but if you let him speak the secret is out and the world knows that he is a fool."

"So it is by the exposure of folly that it is defeated, not by the exclusion of folly, and in this free air of free speech men get into that sort of communication with one another which constitutes the basis of all common achievement. France, through many vicissitudes and through many bitter experiences, found the way to this sort of freedom, and now she stands at the front of the world as the representative of constitutional liberty."

EBERT ATTACKS PEACE TERMS

BERLIN, Sunday, May 11.—(By the Associated Press).—"Germany has seized and unfurled a new banner on which are inscribed President Wilson's fourteen points, which the president has deserted," said Friedrich Ebert, the German president, in a statement to the correspondent today. Ebert called the peace treaty a "monstrous document." He declared that history held no precedent for such determination to annihilate completely vanquished peoples.

Peace Conditions no Harder Than Was To Be Expected, Says Harden

BERLIN, via London, May 12.—Maximilian Harden, editor of the Berlin Zerkur, writing on the peace treaty says:

"The peace conditions are not harder than I expected. They were unpleasant to the greater part of the people. But could one really have expected them otherwise?"

"The Germans have not given very convincing mental guarantees during the six months since the revolution that they have changed their system; on the contrary the present government and the press have used the same methods of incitement against the allies, couched in violent language. It is agitating for refusal to sign the treaty; and to what use? All must know that the allies, by keeping up the blockade and occupying the coal districts, can force Germany to sign whatever they want."

"The allies have been threatened that Germany would join the Bolsheviks; but that would be suicidal. The only way to rescue the country is by openness and honesty. The revolution has been a great disappointment."

"Germany should have sent men who would have laid their cards on the table and get the allies to understand that some of the conditions were unacceptable. If Germany showed its good will to do what is in its power to comply with the allies' requests the allies would see that conditions were changed in favor of Germany, because they know there must be a Germany and that it is impossible to destroy the German people."

DOUGHBOYS BREAKFAST AT K. OF C. HALL

One hundred doughboys who were visiting in Lowell over the week-end sat down to a fine breakfast at the K. of C. banquet hall yesterday morning, and enthusiastically voted it one of the best ever. The feast was served under the auspices of the women of St. Margaret's parish, in charge of Mrs. D. J. Cooney.

The young women who served were: Misses Esther Owen, Helen Gilbride, Mary Dillon, Helen Cox, Theresa Mulcahy, Madeline O'Dea, Marie Reynolds, Melbie Scannell, Agnes Donohoe and Esther Cooney. Following the breakfast there was a musical program to which the following contributed: Miss Mae Bradley, Miss Ellen Lynch, John F. Roane, Jr., and Sgt. James Hill. Miss Catherine W. Cooney was the accompanist.

STATE BOARD APPROVES NEW WELL LAND

Commissioner Charles J. Morse of the water department was notified today by the state board of health that the latter body approved the several lots of land recently taken over by the water department on the Pawtucket boulevard for the installation of new wells. The board also condemned the present Cook wells for the reason that they are not producing water of standard purity and recommended the installation of a number of new wells in their stead.

The opinion of the state board has been anticipated by the work of Commissioner Morse as he has already installed 11 new wells, is running the Cook wells only a day or a day and a half per week and plans to close them entirely as soon as there are sufficient new wells to take their place. The Cook wells were first opened in 1893 and have been in operation off and on for quarter of a century.

A 100 per cent perfect Swiss watch had nothing on the celebration for precision and collection of a dozen distinct vaudeville bills combined with a couple of circuses could not have excelled or outnumbered it in the matter of surprises and novelties. As one of the Centralville "Tanks" said after it was all over, the celebration had "everything."

Precisely at 3.45 Chief Marshal William H. Noonan gave the command, "Forward!" and stepping off first was a platoon of police under command of Sgt. Hugh Maguire. The platoon included Patrolmen Frechette, C. Sullivan, Creamer, Cullen, Quinlan, Cossette, Conlon and Maroney.

Directly behind followed Chief Marshal Noonan on foot, wearing a white wash and accompanied by Hon. John T. Sparks, chief of staff, who wore a red wash; Edmond Gagnon, adjutant, wearing a dark blue wash; Rev. Francis J. Mullin, chaplain; P. L. FIRST DIVISION

In the first division came the veterans of the Spanish war, led by Commander William J. Prescott. The veterans turned out in goodly numbers and were given a hand all along the line of march. Leading the division was Lieut. Joseph P. Kearney in navy uniform and overseas cap. The veterans were followed by Garde St. Louis, commanded by Capt. Alfred Granger; the A. G. Cadets, commanded by A. E. Bernier; three divisions of Boy Scouts, commanded by Scout Executive R. I. Ripley and Deputy Commissioners A. B. Thurston and O. E. Coburn. The Polish Falcons, in their attractive uniforms, were next in line and were commanded by Capt. Frank Koromick.

THE SECOND DIVISION

The second division was headed by Dr. Richard J. McCluskey, marshal, and included besides the Lowell Military band, about 200 members of St. Michael's Holy Name society, 100 members of the Centralville lodge of Odd Fellows and a commendable representation of the men of St. Louis' parish under the leadership of George Lambert.

The third division was the "fair sex" division of the parade. James F. McNamara proved a gallant marshal and assigned the "dear girls" in line with discretion and satisfaction to all. The U. S. Cartridge Co. band saw to it that Susie and Irene kept in step.

Salvation Army Lassies

First in line were seven Salvation Army lassies, commanded by Adjutant E. C. Clark. Following them came a large group of Community Service club girls, attired in charming, patriotic gowns, with jaunty caps of the national colors, and led by Miss Rose Heath. The Daughters of Rebekah were commanded by Mrs. D. I. Caswell. Next came the Liberty girls in gala attire, led by Miss Belle Bourke.

A dozen or so "young women, feminine," termed themselves under the general caption of Centralville girls, provided a very pretty feature. The young women were dressed in sailor costumes and several of them carried a miniature battleship. Miss Margaret Bray was in command.

Miss Madeline Descoeteaux commanded the Butterfly girls and they, too, made an excellent appearance. The Red Cross girls, commanded by Miss Alice Tweed, were natty and smart in their costumes and the 101st auxiliary delegation, under command of Miss Margaret Tobin and Mrs. Katherine Donovan, received a big hand. Miss Joseph Mack commanded the United States Worsted girls.

The Butterfly girls also made a very pretty showing. They were led by Miss Madeline Descoeteaux. Miss Mary Cunningham led an attractive unit of Centralville girls and the Girl scouts, in uniform, were commanded by Miss Alice Jenkins. A service flag with two gold stars and 17 blue was carried by the women of the Fifth Street Baptist church commanded by Albert Shaw. Mrs. Emma Verfaillie led the Belgian women and they were given an ovation all along the line of march.

A number of floats lent added color to the parade. One was a Victory loan

Boston Janitor Faked Holdup Story

BOSTON, May 12.—Pierce Johnson, janitor of an apartment house in the Back Bay district, reported to the police today that he had been robbed of $177 by three men who walked into the basement of the building where he was at work before daylight, and held him up at the point of a revolver. He was unable to give much of a description of the men or to furnish any clues.

A few hours previously, John F. Leyden of Neponset, reported having been held up by two men on Washington street, in the South End district. When they found that Leyden had but $5, they knocked him down. A policeman who heard his calls for help succeeded in capturing one of the men.

After grilling by the police, Johnson is said to have admitted that his story was fictitious and that he made it up because he was short on rent collections. He was arrested on a charge of larceny.

The will of Charles J. Hoyt, a Civil war veteran of Sunbury, Penn., which has been admitted to probate, was written on one of the Sunbury Trust and Safe Deposit company's blanks. Above the words "Pay to the order of" were written the words: "In case of my death by accident or otherwise," making it read as follows: "Sunbury Trust and Safe Deposit company, in case of my death by accident or otherwise pay to the order of my daughter, Mrs. Cornelia Hoyt, all moneys credited to my account."

It radiated "home" in a measure all out of proportion to its size. The daughter of the house had chosen it as her own little apartment because of its sunny bay window. "Thanks to the National Biscuit Company and the other packers of good things," said the girl, "I can live well without a kitchen." A thick, warm-toned rug invited one to lounge on the floor, while the big, fringed cushions scattered about gave evidence that this informality was permissible. "I open this bottle of grape juice," I said, "and the signal for a general merry-making is given." "We're celebrating the momentous day this afternoon," said the girl, "and I'm sure you'll all enjoy it. Marcella, please, find a package of Snaparoons, while I open this bottle of grape juice." So much goodness—so much healthful, appetizing nourishment in a single package, that the sight of it in the store or on the pantry shelf brings the immediate desire for a taste of the Uneda Biscuit fresh and crisp inside.

Search For Wreckage of Seaplane

BOSTON, May 12.—Search by the coast guard cutter Ossipee for wreckage of a seaplane sighted Saturday forty miles east of Provincetown, by the destroyer McDermott, has been unsuccessful thus far, but will be continued as soon as the northeast storm is over. The cutter reported to the navy yard here today from Provincetown, where she put in last night.

The seaplane is thought to be the one which was lost at sea during the flight in connection with the Yankee division parade here April 25. The bodies of the three men of the crew are believed to be entangled in the wreckage.

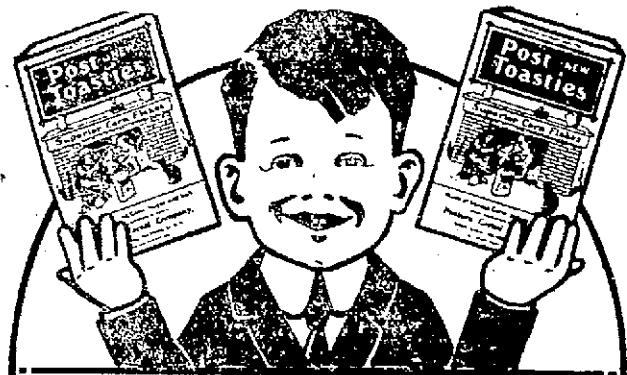

Wilson To Visit Brussels May 20

BRUSSELS, May 12. (By the Associated Press.)—President Wilson will visit Brussels about May 20, according to the Independence Belge, which adds that his visit will "dissipate misunderstandings and establish the good will of the allies toward Belgium."

Several projects, it is stated, are under consideration, including the choice of Antwerp as the European commercial base of the United States. Dr. Epitacio Pessoa, president-elect of Brazil, said before leaving yesterday that he would renew his promise to help Belgium by sending raw materials and organizing a commercial base at Antwerp. A Japanese delegation is now visiting Antwerp with a view to studying collaboration by Japan in the reconstruction of Belgian industry.

Later the committee will communicate directly with the men who were in the service and will provide them with tickets entitling them to take part in the features of the big celebration, which will include a banquet in the North village at noon, supper in both the Centre and North town halls in the evening, band concerts in both districts during the day and concert and ball in the two town halls in the evening. The town has appropriated $500 for the celebration and it is expected that the balance of the money needed to carry out the plans of the celebration, will be subscribed by generous residents of the town as well as by manufacturing concerns.

Many Converts For Weldonia

Enthusiastic Supporters Crowd Headquarters

The storm of discussion aroused by the success of Weldonia, the new non-alcoholic remedy for rheumatism being introduced here, has attracted attention of the larger cities and crowds continue to take advantage of the Weldonia man's visit.

R. H. Vincent, the Weldonia man. Who Says You Must Drive Rheumatism From the Blood.

One old gentleman when seen at the headquarters, Dows' Drug Store, and when asked what he thought of this new remedy, said: "What do I think? Well, I'll tell you. I limped in here about ten days ago with about the worst case of rheumatism a body ever had and still walk. I think about every joint and muscle in my body was full of pain and needles. I ached continually. I couldn't move without my joints creaking like a rusty hinge on a barn door. Couldn't get a night's rest, had to put my arms up over my shoulders to get any comfort."

"I think I have taken about three barrels of medicine. Don't know of anything I haven't taken and thought might as well try this stuff. Weldonia. Most medicine I took hurt my stomach like the mischief. Think I'd eaten cannon balls, so I was a little timid about taking anything new. Well, I got some anyway—and here I be—they say Weldonia is different and you bet it is. In ten days' time I never knew I had rheumatism and haven't a pain or an ache—and had cabbage Sunday for dinner. I want to see some for a neighbor of mine who is just as bad as I was. If I ever get to talk to that rheumatism man."

Many others were just as enthusiastic. It was a big day for Weldonia. Weldonia is composed of herbs, roots and other ingredients, put up in convenient form without alcohol. Does not disturb the stomach, the heart or any other organ. Drives rheumatism from the blood, drive it from the system is the Weldonia man's slogan.

It was stated that Mr. Vincent would continue to meet the public every day and evening at Dows' drug store to explain more about Weldonia and give out the free book, "Germs of Rheumatism—How They Live—How They Die."—Adv.

MAY 15. "STRAW HAT DAY"

May 15 is "straw hat day"—i.e., official opening of the men's straw hat season.

Get a jump on this straw hat trade. You know the jobbers have the stock on hand and are willing to make you quick delivery. They want the goods pushed. They want the straw hat season to start with a rush May 15, instead of Decoration day. But they cannot do the job alone.

If May 15 comes and goes and your ad copy does not show to every well dressed man in Lowell that you know it's the official opening of the straw hat season, you will be to blame if the pay train is ditched because you were asleep at the switch.

There are plenty of straw hat cuts down here in The Sun office to be used in your straw hat ads. Boston merchants will be advertising straw hats all this week. Let's make the straw hat season longer. The time to do it is right now. Advertise straw hats all this week starting Tuesday, tomorrow. Be sure to do it in the right way, for the one way is the right way, and that's by using

ARMENIA--POLAND--IRELAND

There is one nation above all others perhaps, that has reason to rejoice as a result of the recent war, for it brings her liberty and independence after the most bloody persecution of not five or ten, but sixteen centuries. That nation is Armenia.

Faithful, steadfast, sorely tried Armenia, long the helpless victim of Turkish barbarities, suffering without sympathy and with her cries unheard by civilization, through the centuries her people bled under the tyrants of Persia and of Rome, under the Saracens, the Byzantines, Tamerlane, the Turks, and finally the Turco-Germans.

Even as late as 1909, 300,000 Armenian Christians, men, women and children, were slain by the Turks and yet the western world heard but little of these atrocities because Turkey was then part of the European balance of power and the western nations did not consider it any of their business to intervene in behalf of this oppressed people or to put an end to Turkish barbarities. But thanks to the founders of the League of Nations, Armenia is to get her freedom under conditions that will make it secure and enable the people to turn their attention to their own national development and progress, assured that never again will the unspeakable Turk come down upon them with fiendish slaughter intended mainly to satisfy his hatred of Christians and to capture Armenian maidens for the harems.

It is certainly a source of pride that the United States has been the chief crusader for world freedom and the special champion of the freedom of Armenia, and of Poland, another persecuted nation that is to be restored to freedom and to start upon a new career that promises to outshine even the brightest pages of her past history, when she was one of the greatest nations in Europe.

In this deliverance, it is to be deeply regretted that Ireland is not to share, although she has suffered for ages and never submitted to the yoke of the stranger, whether Saxon or Dane.

There is no doubt, however, that the Irish question will be settled in the near future.

The operation of the home rule act, on the statute book since 1914, was suspended until six months after the war and it may be that England will decide by that time to grant autonomy to Ireland, but no halfway measure will be accepted and no measure that will keep alive the old feuds by which the people have been divided in the past. Now that self-determination is in the air, Ireland claims an equal right with any other nation in that privilege to share.

GERMAN IRE

As might have been expected, the Germans will inaugurate a campaign of opposition to the terms of the peace treaty. Already, some of their leaders have sent out the shibboleth that "anarchy is preferable to slavery," intimating that the peace treaty imposes slavery upon the people. For this there is no justification whatever. It is true that the whole fabric of German militarism is leveled to the ground, but this is a matter over which the Germans should rejoice rather than express their indignation.

When the German leaders consider how the people were slaughtered in the recent war, simply to carry out the ambition of the emperor for world conquest, and when they realize that no such power will ever again have sway over them, they should rejoice at their own deliverance. No longer will they be made the so-called "fodder" for the great guns of Europe or be treated as mere beasts of burden in the prosecution of wars of conquest.

So far from Germany being consigned to slavery, it will be apparent that she has more freedom than ever before for the reason that the people will hereafter be their own masters, invested with power to select their own rulers and make their own laws instead of being at the mercy of the Prussian junkers who, in the past, have given them but slight influence in the legislation affecting the people.

Should Germany, in the future, be attacked by any nation or even by Russia, the powers behind the League of Nations would go to her aid in order to prevent an extension of Russian power at the expense of civilization. Germany at the present time is suffering under the effects of a terrible war, and society is more or less disorganized; but at the same time, conditions in Germany are immeasurably preferable to the Bolshevik regime in Russia.

After peace shall have been fully secured between the allies and the central powers, there will still remain the problem of Russian peace. At the present time, the situation in Russia threatens the peace of Europe and it is difficult to estimate just when or how the atmosphere will be cleared so that sane government may be restored in that unhappy country.

It is, therefore, probable that Germany will see matters in a different light before the end of the 15 days given her in which to reach a decision. That the treaty will be duly signed is the opinion of those apparently most capable of judging the German temperament. Any other decision would be only adding to the enormity of their disaster and making more bitter the retribution that is coming.

BUSINESS ECONOMICS

Political economy, or social economy—just as we have in mind to call it—is very simple.

Political economy is nothing but business.

And business is nothing but supplying one another's wants.

When the druggist of a town wants food, he goes to the grocer. When the grocer wants medicine, he goes to the druggist.

Or, enlarge the system to a national one and say that when the people of the south want wheat, they go to the northwest for it; when the people of the northwest want cotton, why, they go to the south for it.

There is a system of counters known as money and used to facilitate the bookkeeping of these transactions.

When this country was first settled, everyone did their own shoemaking and blacksmithing.

Finally, one man in a settlement evidenced more skill than his neighbors as a shoemaker, or as a blacksmith, and the neighbors found it good economy to allow this one to do their shoemaking or blacksmithing while they pursued the general arts of farming.

Now, enlarge the process until the country shoe-shop becomes a vast shoe factory, or until the country blacksmith becomes a vast metal trade industry, with stores, railroads and banks to facilitate the distribution, transportation and exchange, and the simple prin-

THE MAN ABOUT TOWN

Secretary Philip J. Breen of the local branch, Knights of Columbus, handed the writer a copy of the Rochester, N. Y. Post Express the other day, calling attention to a lengthy article dealing with a tour of the country made by Supreme Knight James A. Flaherty and his opposition to all forms of Bolshevik propaganda. The article in part was as follows:

James A. Flaherty, supreme knight of the Knights of Columbus, has been touring the country on a visit to the K. of C. state jurisdictions. He comes back with news of almost universal sentiment in favor of getting business started on stable paths. And he comes, too, with promise of a nation-wide stand by his organization against anarchic councils, against Bolshevism in an act and word. Mr. Flaherty has no doubt about the soundness of our people's sense. But he does think that the good people who can be counted on to think right and act as they think ought to be roused to the need of their co-operation.

Mr. Flaherty is wise in making distinctions. He says: "Now, the K. of C., through its 1800 and more councils throughout the country, is an agency for constructively combating any new forces of disruption that may arise. With whatever healthy dissatisfaction may crop up in labor circles, the K. of C. has no more or less interest than any other body of American citizens who stand for a square deal all around. But the society to a man is opposed to the import and practice of foreign anarchistic doctrines and will fight them with all the power at its command."

These are heartening words. There are a lot of good men in the K. of C. and "opposed to a man" to forces of disruption they will be a great bulwark for safety. Moreover, Mr. Flaherty says the right thing when he calls attention to the distinction between our home settlements of industrial disputes; these are all in the family and we shall settle them satisfactorily if we keep them in the family. This constructive proclamation made in fearless fashion is an example other great societies might well follow and quickly. We want our full strength for law and order in militant mood; we want alert scouts in action; fearless spokesmen like Mr. Flaherty. We have no need to fear Bolshevism in the open. It is dangerous latent and unopposed; particularly is it dangerous unnoticed."

The name of Col. John F. J. Herbert of Worcester rings rather familiarly in my ears as I read of his exploits at the St. Louis American Legion convention, at which he publicly pilloried and indicted the city of Chicago for having returned the notorious pro-German, Thompson, to the office of mayor. I am afraid most Massachusetts people think of Col. Herbert as one of the state's most capable and noted military men, drawn from the ranks of the national guard to win glory fighting for democracy in France. Worcester newspapermen instinctively recognize him as not only absolutely one of the most capable newspaper executives that famous home of good newspapermen has ever produced, but more uniquely he is called one of the best managing editors under whom to work, that was ever known there.

Col. Herbert, "Jack," as he was known to his men, was for some time managing editor of the Worcester Evening Post. He was responsible for that paper's new lease of life and remarkable regeneration. The head of the copy desk of a big city paper like that is usually regarded as an important position. Having worked under him, I can testify to his patience and good nature. My Worcester friends tell me he will be Worcester's next mayor beyond peradventure and a little later they promise, governor of the commonwealth. To which success I can personally promise him at least one Lowell vote.

SEEN AND HEARD

Forming second hand opinions is the source of prejudice and unjustified hatred.

No one has any idea that it will be impossible to get a lawyer for William Hohenzoller, formerly of the firm of "Kaiser and Gott," when the case of Kaiser vs. Civilization comes to trial.

The government has just bought for 20 cents two acres of land near Columbus, Ga. And the owner's name—D. I. Skinner! Ah-so-lutely, you cannot go much on a name.

Mrs. Eva Ruppert of Bloomsburg, Pa., has an Easter egg dated 1823. It is in an excellent state of preservation and we rise to remark that the one we had for breakfast must have been laid about the same time.

Got the Zoo's Goat

You have heard what happens when the irresistible force meets the immovable body. Then you have some fairly adequate mental picture of that Oklahoma City zoo collision when goat and buffalo met head-first. The zoo is advertising for a new goat, and the buffalo hopes nobody will answer the ad.

A CLEAR COMPLEXION

Ruddy Cheeks—Sparkling Eyes—Most Women Can Have

Says Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known Ohio Physician

Dr. F. M. Edwards for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. You will know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women as well as men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the successful substitute for calomel—now and then just to keep in the pink of condition. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

Of the males think it's unlucky to stub one's toe. Not a one, however, carries a rabbit's foot.

From Mrs. Kilmer's Poems

The poems of Aline Kilmer, collected in book form and published, are charming tributes to her hero-poet husband, Joyce Kilmer, who was killed in action last July at the Ourea, "Candies That Burn" is the title of these poems brought together. They radiate the unaffected loveliness of mood and the human affection and devotion that had been consummated between these congenial souls. A critic of the Boston Transcript reads between the lines the shadow of the great personal loss which came to the author in the giving up of her husband at his country's call, and the touching resignation when the temporary giving up passed into the realization that he had rendered the last full measure of devotion. But in all this overflowing of deep spirit at the hard imposition of fate, there is no bitterness of protest, no complaint that weakens and shames the dignity of sacrifice; but every utterance is full of a noble and heroic submission to the ways of God.

No utterance can more vividly project the character of soul in giving to one's country one's dearest possession than this woman shows in this verse, "High Heart!":

"The sea that I watch from my window
Is gray and white;
I see it lost in the darkness
All the night.
My soul swoons down to sorrow
As the sea-gulls dip,
And all my love flies after
Your lonely ship."

Yet I am not despairing
Though we must part;
Nothing can be too bitter
For my high heart.
All in the dreary midnight
I watch the flying foam,
I wait for the golden morning
When you come home."

And again she cries, holding on to courage with heroic hands: "I shall not be afraid!"

"I shall not be afraid any more,
Either by right or wrong,
What would it profit me to be afraid
With you away?"

Now I am brave. In the dark night
Alone
All through the house I go,
Looking the doors and making windows fast when sharp winds blow.

For there is only sorrow in my heart;
They do not room for fear.
But how I wish I were afraid again,
My dear, my dear!"

AMUSEMENT NOTES

Below is what the press agents of the different theatres say of the current attractions and of others to come.

N. M. KEITH'S THEATRE

Billy Reeves will be at the N. M. Keith Theatre today, and he will remain during the week playing "The Right Key for the Wrong Place," an excruciatingly funny comedy written for him by Claude and Gordon Besse. Reeves has appeared in "Karlson's A Night in an English Music Hall," and so successful was the production that in many cities of the country there was a demand for repeat performances. Up to that time there had been but few acts of that kind on the American stage. Billy Reeves set the fashion. His specialty was a very funny drunk, who always entered or left his box at the most inopportune time, nearly always with a bouquet, and he would enter the theatre and proceed to the stage with a bouquet of flowers intended for one of the dancers. It all wound up with him falling into a tank of water. Still later motion pictures claim him and now he is back to the vaudeville sketch, with 20 minutes of continuous laughter. Reeves is really a very funny man, with a style of entertainment quite his own.

Hank Brown, who does a lot of funny things and does them in a distinctive way, will hop into second place on the bill. Brown has never appeared here before, but he has been rated in New York and Chicago as one of the funniest stuff. Joe Towle is another entertainer of originality. Joe's great stunt consists of his very cleverly arranged burlesque on the things we all see in the theatre—he even travesties himself. It has been sometime since a thoroughly serious sketch has been produced locally. Towle's burlesque with Jane Courtoise in the principal part, there will be presented a tense domestic drama, showing just how selfishness can wreck a family. Work and Heit are acrobatic comedians of much merit, and Top and Bottom reverse the usual order of things and do some funny stunts on their heads. Leonard and Willard, a man and a woman, make merry and play several instruments. The Kirograms, a New country will be shown at each performance.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

This is "farewell" week at the Lowell Opera House. The popular Emerson All Star Players and Manager F. James Carroll will conclude their highly successful season on Saturday night next, and the "good-bye" production will be the great novelty comedy drama, "Another Man's Shoes," which will be produced for the first time in stock. The play is an exceptional offering, not alone because it comes directly from Broadway, New York, but because it tells a story that is so unusual, and in a way that is highly entertaining. You will see all of your favorites in their best roles. A reception to Miss Alice Hamilton will be held this afternoon, and on Tuesday to Miss Ferris, on Wednesday to Miss Girard-Huntington, and on Thursday to Miss Jane Salisbury. Saturday night will be "good-bye" night and the "lid will come off." Don't miss it! Buy your tickets early.

THE STRAND

A superior program at a superior theatre, under superior management, at the lowest possible prices, summarizes just what patrons receive for their money at the Strand. "Take the bill to be given the first three days of the week as an example, and judge for yourself. Sessue Hayakawa, the Japanese star in "A Heart in Pawn," said to be among his best screen effects, and "Ginger," the latest World picture offering, are to be the features. Both are excellent photoplays and will merit the many good things that will certainly be said of them. A two-part Vitaphone comedy and one of the most recent Universal Weekly series, as well as musical numbers by Edna Ray, will help round out a bill of excellence.

Patrons are reminded of the fact that this theatre will be given over to the Choral society concert Tuesday night. The usual matinee performance will be given. The management wishes also to call attention to the fact that their programs contain special releases and not program pictures, and they are shown here as first releases.

MARCH GAINS IN BUILDING PERMITS

Building permits for March, 1919, in many cities of the United States show an enormous increase over the corresponding month of the previous year, according to a table of estimates prepared by the Division of Public Works and Construction Development, Information and Education Service, United States department of labor.

In a comparison of construction costs, as represented by 47 cities, fifteen record a falling off, but the remaining thirty-two more than compensate for the decrease by the great gain represented. Permits for March indicate gains as follows: Cambridge, Mass., 302 per cent; Chattanooga, Tenn., 200 per cent; Charleston, S. C., 190 per cent; Dallas, Texas, 118 per cent; Denver, Colo., 151 per cent; Detroit, Mich., 193 per cent; East St. Louis, 188 per cent; Hamilton, Ohio, 137 per cent; Kansas City, Mo., 120 per cent; Milwaukee, Wis., 155 per cent; Savannah, Georgia, 134 per cent; Toledo, Ohio, 102 per cent; Utica, N. Y., 168 per cent; Worcester, Mass., 300 per cent.

Own Your Own Home campaigns have been started in 25 of the cities on the list. In a few of these the campaigns are but just begun and for this reason results have not yet been obtained. Among those Philadelphia stands out as an important field for the encouragement of construction, since March of this year showed 57 per cent less building than March, 1918. New Orleans is another place in which a campaign is under way. Here there was 60 per cent less building than in the same month of the preceding year. Wichita, Kan., which was 45 per cent behind 1918, is conducting a vigorous campaign, while St. Louis, which lagged 19 per cent, is at work pushing many projects. Portland, Oregon, which began its campaign some time ago, recorded a gain of 98 per cent for March. Toledo and Milwaukee have also the momentum of successful campaigns.

UNITED IRISH SOCIETIES

Solicit the Generous Co-operation of the People of Lowell for the Irish Fund Drive. Lowell's Quota, $10,000.00. Campaign Opens Today. Closes Monday, May 19. A Drive Worthy of the Support of All Liberty Loving People.

Ireland's right to self-determination is admitted by all nations throughout the world. Her sons have fought nobly to perpetuate these principles and make them sacred to all people. Why should they be denied Ireland alone?

To present the story of Ireland, her hopes, rights and aspirations, to an unprejudiced world THAT JUSTICE MAY BE DONE is the purpose of this campaign for funds. To offset insidious and unjust propaganda against her rightful claims and to provide the means whereby recognition of these claims may be obtained WILL REQUIRE UNLIMITED FUNDS.

IRELAND WANTS SELF-DETERMINATION and wants it without bloodshed. A strong and sympathetic public opinion will secure it and will force justice for this long oppressed country. WILL YOU DO YOUR PART TO BRING IT ABOUT? Irishmen are united as never before for the principles which this campaign is intended to secure.

The executive committee for the Lowell Irish Drive Fund is as follows:

IRELAND NEEDS YOUR ASSISTANCE and support now as never before. Let your love and sense of justice for Ireland's cause be expressed substantially and generously this week.

BUT WE NEED THE RAIN JUST THE SAME

The cold, disagreeable rain storm of Saturday, yesterday and today, constitutes the eighth depressing week-end in the last nine weeks if the weather bureau is to be believed. Propelled by a wintry blast from the northeast the rain sifted down pretty much all of the time and accumulated a total rainfall of 1.02 inches. It seemed like two or three feet to the persons who had to be out in it and seriously impaired the Saturday business of the town. If such a storm had come two or three weeks ago it would have ruined budding crops and trees but the buds have become so well formed now as to withstand a temperature as low as that which accompanied the rain.

Back From Europe

city of labor. He saw American soldiers everywhere in practically every city and town in France, and warmly praises the present American army system of granting generous leaves to soldiers that they may have opportunities to see the many interesting and educational sights of the country and come home immeasurably broadened. Mr. Prince called from New York on the Aquitania, March 6. The trip across was very comfortable, although the huge ship had been dismantled for the accommodation of troops. On arriving in England he went directly to London. He found the food restrictions still in drastic force, with no sugar or butter to be had, and with the meat supply still under government control. Business conditions were most unstable. Large business was not at all ready to even consider export activities and in addition to the scarcity of raw materials, the labor situation was most serious. One of the most perplexing problems in connection with labor as viewed by the business men of London is the fact that at least 100,000 returned British soldiers are drawing soldiers' unemployment "dole" from the government and show no inclination to go back into industry.

Mr. Prince feels that when business does begin to readjust itself wage scales will be much higher than before the war, and rise to a level nearly parallel with those in the United States.

While in London Mr. Prince was privileged to attend a dinner given to Admiral Sims at the Savoy just prior to the latter's departure for America, and also attended a luncheon given at the Savoy for Ambassador Davis. He was in London at the time of the first large parade of returned soldiers, the one in which marched 5000 men of the famous guard regiments including the young Prince of Wales. The parade was reviewed by the king and the 5000 men in line represented the survivors of 40,000 men who fought in these guard regiments during four years of the war. The regiment first went out in 1914 with 8000 men and was repeatedly cut to pieces and continuously freshened with replacement troops to the number of 40,000. Some of the men in line had served throughout the war and wore the red brassard designating participation in the battle of Mons, which was in the earliest days of the war.

Mr. Prince says English people are not complaining over the chaotic conditions in the country, but are keeping a stiff upper lip as they have throughout the war. He found that conditions in England during the days of strife were much worse than the world realized and for months and months the country was on the verge of starvation. This showed particularly in the health of children who were unable to get sufficient nourishment.

In addition to a most thorough and necessarily slow passport system, which took up practically one-third of a traveler's time, Mr. Prince says that persons coming into English cities and towns are still under police surveillance, and arrivals and departures must be reported at police headquarters in person. One instance of the transportation regulations is shown by the fact that in passing from England to France over the channel, passports have to be viced by English, American and French officers. United States consulate officers show American travelers every consideration, said Mr. Prince.

After three weeks in England, Mr. Prince went to France. He visited many of the battlefronts, going to Chateau-Thierry, Belleau Wood and Rheims among many other places. He passed through at least 25 French towns in which not one stone was left standing upon another. The northern part of France is practically desolate.

In Rheims there are living not more than 300 persons out of a pre-war population of about 150,000. There were in 1914 about 20,000 dwelling houses in Rheims and now scarcely 20 are habitable with about 30 more which may be repaired to make them so. The famous cathedral is damaged extensively, but not so much as visitors had been led to believe. Many parts of the cathedral, of course, are mutilated beyond repair, or at least replacement, but at first glance the building does not show excessive signs of four years of almost continuous bombardment. The front of the church seems to have suffered more from fire than from shells.

Paris is filled with American soldiers on leave and Mr. Prince has exceeding praise for the leave system now in vogue in the A.E.F. American boys are being given opportunities for travel and education and moreover many have taken advantage of the offer to attend French and English universities, and of the educational courses being operated by the Y.M.C.A. Mr. Prince says he went abroad rather a severe critic of the Y.M.C.A. regarding its war work but has come back well convinced that although the "Y" fell short in many of its plans and operations, it, nevertheless, was at least 70 per cent efficient and did untold good. All of the Y.M.C.A. secretaries he saw were earnest men and on the job to give service. The association is doing a wonderful work in Paris today, he said, operating hotels and theatres in Paris and conducting a number of free sight-seeing tours for soldiers on leave. Mr. Prince spoke of visiting one large mobilization area for United States troops on their way to embarkation points—and home, and said that in this huge system of camps, covering a territory 50 by 50 miles in scope, the Y.M.C.A. had more than 500 secretaries and nightly operated 40 free theatres.

Business conditions in France are even worse than in England in the opinion of Mr. Prince. There is no raw material available and labor is actually scarce. High prices are found all over the country, being almost exorbitant. In fact, and gasoline in Paris is now $12.50 a gallon. Motor cars for hire are to be had only in remote instances and there is practically no taxi-cab system. In Paris Mr. Prince saw one of the most striking things of his entire country—thousands of captured German cannon of every known size and shape, which are placed only 10 feet apart all along the Champs Elysees and place de la Concorde.

Mr. Prince returned to this country on the Mauretania, which carried 3000 Canadian soldiers and dropped them at Halifax. He landed at New York Saturday night.

SUN'S STORY SAVED THIS DOG'S LIFE

Saturday afternoon a handsome, buff-colored thoroughbred dog stood and lay in the shadow of death at the police station. He hadn't done anything wrong, but he had been brought to the station by Special Officer Gilmore of the Humane Society after being struck and slightly injured by an automobile. And there was no name on his collar.

Now the way of a dog with no name on his collar who lands at the police station usually has but one ending, and that is by way of the gas box route. But this particular dog escaped the gas box. For Mr. Gilmore, having read in The Sun that his dog was in dire peril, hurried to the station Saturday evening and claimed his property.

All stories have a moral, and this one is that it pays to advertise.

If you want to reach the people who spend their money in Lowell advertise in The Sun, Lowell's greatest newspaper.

WARNED TO WATCH OUT FOR IMPOSTOR

Druggists, look out. So says Sept. Welch.

In this case the chief wishes to warn the local pill-rollers to keep their eyes open for a man, 34 years old, about 5 feet, 8 inches in height.

He is reported to be working eastward, and is as clever as they make 'em. His particular specialty is to apply for work at a drug store and after working for about three days, tap the till, safe or strong box as the case may be, and make a quick exit to the next city on his route.

Then again he may wish to become an active partner in the business, and invest some capital in the firm. He recently offered a druggist in Duluth, Minn., two stolen Liberty bonds in exchange for a small interest in the business, and departed three days afterward with $300 in cash and other valuables.

Sometimes he poses as a discharged lieutenant in the medical overseas corps. This is not hard for him to accomplish as he has in his possession a doctor's practicing license and certificate which he appropriated from a physician during his travels.

And so the chief says, "Watch out."

TREATY WITH AUSTRIA READY

PARIS, May 12.—The peace treaty with Austria is nearing completion and an official summary of it is being prepared, as was done in the case of the German treaty.

Although it is not so stated in the treaty, the new Austrian frontier is the one designated by the secret treaty of London, giving Italy all the strategic heights and defensive passages.

French officials are embarrassed by a demand that direct telephone and telegraph communication be accorded the Austrian peace delegation during the negotiations, just as it is now accorded the Germans. The Germans are using the only wires available and it is not believed they will give up any of their facilities to their former allies.

ARCHANGEL, Saturday, May 10. (By the Associated Press.)—Tentative arrangements are being made to begin the withdrawal of American troops from north Russia early in June. Owing to the restrictions of shipping authorities in the matter of overseas travel at the present time, Sergt. John J. Upon his return here his plans were again changed owing to the fact that his trip was for no other purpose than pleasure and the authorities will not give passports for this unit shipping conditions are restored to normal.

Seborrhea Kills the Hair Famo Kills Seborrhea

Seborrhea is an old trouble to which scientists have given a new name. And science has found in Famo a new way of overcoming it. Seborrhea is the disease which kills the roots of the hair by means of the deadly dandruff bacilli.

It does to the hair what pyorrhea does to the teeth. Famo is a formula worked out in one of the great pharmaceutical houses of Detroit.

Three years were required to develop Famo.

It proved its efficacy before it was offered to the public. The way in which Famo does its work is almost unbelievable.

Transformation is Wonderful

Almost at once your eyes testify to the transformation.

New hair grows like the hair of healthy children

The scalp becomes like the scalp of a baby. All itching of the scalp is stopped.

Famo brings back the look of health by a softness and lustre beyond words to describe.

Famo Destroys Bacilli

Famo removes the obstacle to growth, when it kills the seborrhea (dandruff) bacilli.

Freed from the bondage of disease, the hair leaps into luxuriance.

In women the change is wonderful.

If their hair was normally beautiful, the beauty is intensified.

Famo Contains No Alcohol

The natural color is enhanced and grayness is retarded. Famo contains no alcohol. Alcohol, if used persistently, is harmful to the hair, as it dries the scalp.

Famo comes in two sizes—a small size for 35 cents and an extra large size at $1. Your money back if it doesn't satisfy.

Every member of the family should use Famo. It is sold at all toilet goods counters. Applications may be had at the better barber shops.

Seborrhea is the medical name for a morbidly increased flow from the sebaceous glands of the scalp. The seborrhea secretion forms in scales or flakes and is commonly known as dandruff.

LOWELL SCORES AN EASY WIN, 12 TO 0

In a game which went only six and a half innings because of the cold and intermittent rain at Spaulding park Saturday afternoon, Lowell high smothered Nashua high 12 to 0. It was too cold for baseball, but Coach Donahue's mud bats didn't seem to mind the chilly blasts from Wamee's way and were on their toes every minute taking advantage of the visiting team's misplay. Lowell kicked in with only five hits, and could do nothing with the pitching of Rock, who followed the elongated Burnham to the slab, but the latter was pretty well cut up and the three innings he worked. He must bear most of the blame for Nashua's rout, for in addition to being outplayed for five times he gave three bases on balls, hit two batters, made two wild pitches and pulled one balk. Some diversified record, we'll say.

For Lowell Anastos pitched strong, steady ball. He had fine speed, a receiving change of pace and allowed only two hits. He gave out one foul pass to first and fanned five. Lowell started on her wild career in the second inning when three hits, two of which didn't go past second base, hit batsman, a sacrifice and a base on balls accounted for seven runs. Not satisfied, Coach Donahue sent his boys right back in the next inning to get three more runs and these came to be through two hits, two bases on balls, three errors, a wild pitch and three stolen bases. "Two enough," would be unfair to say that Nashua even threatened to score a run in any one of the six frames. The visitors first hit, a two-bagger to center field, came in the fifth inning, but the runner was left on third. Rock singled with one out in the fifth, but was cut down stealing.

Ray Reynolds contributed the fielding feature of the game when he took a hard line drive, second base, with one hand, while on the run, and doubled a runner at first. The Lowell infield looked fine and the four bats took one of 10 chances without an error. The score:

Eller Pitches Himself Into Baseball's Hall of Fame

CINCINNATI, O., May 12.—"Hod" Eller pitched the first no-hit game of the season yesterday and Cincinnati easily beat St. Louis 6 to 0. Only three Cardinals reached first base, all on bases on balls. Two of these were out striking, so only 22 batters faced Eller in the nine innings. The score:

Cincinnati 0 0 0 2 0 4 0 0—6
St. Louis 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0—0

Batteries: Eller and Rariden; May and Snyder.

CHICAGO 3, PITTSBURG 0
CHICAGO, May 12.—Douglas won a pitcher's battle from "Babe" Adams yesterday, the Chicago team besting Pittsburgh 3 to 0. In the seventh inning Chicago scored when Holtschler doubled and came in on Barber's single. With one out in the eighth, Deal and Kilfliter singled and Douglas clinched his own victory with a double, scoring in both runs. The score:

Chicago 0 0 0 0 0 1 2 3—3

Batteries: Douglas and Kilfliter; Adams and Schmidt.

NEW YORK 7, BROOKLYN 2
BROOKLYN, May 12.—New York battered Cadore and Numaux for 13 hits, including six doubles and a home run drive over the right field wall by Kaut and defeated Brooklyn 7 to 2. Two fast double plays kept New York from getting more runs. Causey allowed only four hits. Doyle's batting and fielding featured the game. Zimmerman was cut out of the game in the ninth for objecting to an umpire's decision. The score:

New York 1 0 0 0 0 1 0 1—7

birth in the N.E.L. this year and while in the city on Saturday with his Nashua high school team looked up one or two of the local scouts, particularly "Bing" Falls, who is slated to pitch for the Graniteville team this season.

Clarence Parker, coach of the Brookline high school team, and with Lowell in the N.E.L. a few seasons ago, has been offered the management of the Fitchburg team in the league this year. While he has not fully decided to accept this offer, he has already accepted the position of scout for both the Haverhill and Fitchburg teams in the new circuit.

Heine Wagner, former player and coach of the Red Sox, and Secretary Wilson of the American club, on which Bill Carrigan is one of the backbones, were at Fenway Park in Boston last week looking for ball players. Manager Barrow will not let out any of his squad but he tipped off the visitors to several promising youngsters who have been working out at Fenway every morning. Among the kids recommended were Murphy, Cotter, Zubrin, Yonkman and Atwater, pitchers; Fox, catcher, and Drolette, an outfielder.

"Hod" Eller, Cincinnati pitcher, has the initial honor of stepping into the no-hit-no-run class this year. He held St. Louis helpless yesterday and allowed only three Cardinals to reach first base.

The New England league has been admitted to Class B status in the National Baseball association, according to a statement given out yesterday by Chairman John H. Farrell. At the same time came the announcement that the Eastern association has been advanced from Class B to Class A. This league includes Worcester, Springfield, New Haven, Bridgeport, Haverhill, Hartford, Pittsfield and Providence.

Tris Speaker fanned for the first time this year yesterday when his team was badly beaten by Chicago, 10 to 2. Also it was the first defeat sustained by Fitchburg. Kid picked up from the dust and lost by Cleveland.

12-INNING TIE

Washington and Yankees

Battle Without Scoring

NEW YORK, May 12.—New York and Washington played a 12-inning no-score tie here yesterday which was called at 5 o'clock in compliance with the new Sunday amusement law, which forbids play after that hour. It was the first American league contest here under the new ordinance.

Johnson and Quinn had a great pitcher's battle, the former permitting only three of the locals to reach base. From the time that Fitchburg singled in the first inning, until Baker walked in the 10th inning, Johnson retired 23 batters in order. Quinn was hit much harder but was strong in the pinches. Three times he retired Washington with the bases full. The score:

Batteries: Johnson and Agnew, Garity; Quinn and Ruel.

DETROIT 6, ST. LOUIS 2
ST. LOUIS, Mo., May 12.—Mitchell and Kallio held St. Louis to four hits, while their teammates batted three local pitchers for a 6-2 Detroit victory yesterday.

"Hank" Severoid received a deep gash above the knee cap and was forced to retire in the sixth inning when Flagstead slid into him at the plate. The score:

Detroit 0 0 0 1 0 3 0 1—6
St. Louis 0 0 1 0 0 1 0 0—2

Mitchell, Kallio and Almsmith; Shoemaker, Koon, Lowdermilk and Severoid, Killings.

CHICAGO 10, CLEVELAND 2
CLEVELAND, May 12.—Chicago hit Uhl, Cleveland's saddest pitcher here yesterday and won, 10 to 2. Uhl, being Uhl's first defeat in three starts. Williams was very effective holding Cleveland scoreless until his ninth when three doubles produced two runs. Speaker fanned for the first time this season. Cleveland will play two postponed games at Detroit today and Tuesday instead of remaining here to play off a postponed game with Chicago. The score:

Cleveland 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 2—2

Williams and Schalk; Uhl and Numaux.

FORFEITS POSTED FOR COMING BOUT

With forfeits posted and messages of assurance from the managers of Al Shubert of New Bedford and Louisiana, the southern sensation on hand, Matchmaker Fred Moore of the Crescent A. A. announced today that the men will positively appear on next Thursday night. They are scheduled to box 12 rounds to a decision. Shubert, a former amateur, has a record of six round number at Philadelphia and the newspapers gave the southerner the award. Ever since that time the Crescent A. A. has been anxious to get a return engagement with "Lou," but until the local matchmaker opened negotiations, he never had a chance to try and wipe that reverse. He is elated at the opportunity afforded him, and avers that he will come out on top. Louisiana says he will repeat and feels confident that he will make a much better showing than he did against Boyle, who had both weight and reach advantages over him. Young Moore of Louisiana, who will make a leg to his credit, will meet Phil Christy of Boston in the semi-final of eight rounds. There will be two other bouts of six rounds each.

NEW INNOVATION IN BOWLING SERIES

An innovation in bowling tournaments, and a most novel scale never attempted before, is being inaugurated in New York city, namely, a big duckpin tournament to which all the bowlers of the New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Ohio, Virginia and West Virginia are invited to participate. The idea was conceived by Joseph Thum, dean of the bowling fraternity, to whom more than any one other man in this country the bowling sport owes its success. Recently he had to undergo an operation for mastitis, and while convalescing in the hospital, his favorite sport took up nearly his entire thoughts, and he thought worked out the details of this monster duckpin championship tournament. The first of the seven events, a two-man team, was played Saturday, when Yarn defeated Mechanical nine, 7 to 6, on the company's playground in Alken street. Very shortly the league will start on a schedule of twilight games to be played between 5 and 8 p. m., and soon after a team will be picked from the players of the four-league teams to constitute a company team, organized for the purpose of playing any of the strongest amateur aggregations in the entries are pouring in, not alone from Manhattan and Brooklyn, but from all over the city. The first round will be played on the Triangle A. C. Cleveland A. C. Cleveland, O. teams from Philadelphia and many teams from New Jersey and Connecticut. The tournament will be held at Thum's White Elephant Bowling academy, 1341 Broadway, corner 31st street. "Uncle" Joe Thum will gladly send application blanks upon request and also furnish any further information desired. The opening day will be June 16th with entries closing on June 1th.

ALL STAR SHOW AT TRIANGLE A. C.

An all-star show with three ten-round bouts and one six-round event will be run by the Triangle A. C. at the Playhouse on next Friday evening. Matchmaker Mahan, like all others engaged in this work, is having his troubles in bringing men together. He had the Avilla-Newbury bout "all clinched" as it were, but the weight question popped up, with the result that the match was called off. Again Frankie Walsh and Frankie Brogan were announced, but for the second time arguments over weight brought about the cancellation of this attraction. He has finally succeeded in signing up Toddy Murphy to meet the local bantam in one of the ten round events and this bout is announced as for the N. E. bantamweight title. The other ten rounders will have Buddie Bolan of Lawrence against Eddie Barlow of Quincy and Tommy Doyle of Lowell against Kid Lee of Chelsea. Battling Tony and Joe Clark will meet in a six-round prelim.

AMATEUR BASEBALL

The Lawrence Mfg. Co. has formed a four-team baseball league, one team representing each of the four mill departments, as follows: Yarn, Lumber, Hose and Mechanical, and officers have been chosen to supervise the schedule and run the organization along strict league lines. The first game was played Saturday, when Yarn defeated Mechanical nine, 7 to 6, on the company's playground in Alken street. Very shortly the league will start on a schedule of twilight games to be played between 5 and 8 p. m., and soon after a team will be picked from the players of the four-league teams to constitute a company team, organized for the purpose of playing any of the strongest amateur aggregations in the state. The officers of the league are: President, Victor Sherburne; vice president, Thomas Senior; secretary, Lise Sewell; treasurer, Frank Green; directors, one from each department, Guy C. Hunt, Joseph Lacombe, Fred Swinells and Frank Green.

The White Eagles defeated the Edison club, 9 to 8 in 11 innings Saturday afternoon. The winners would like a game with the St. Columba's team.

The Pawtucket Stars won a double-header Saturday, defeating the Athletics, 11 to 7, and the Burnside Juniors, 21 to 10. The Stars challenge any 11 or 13-year-old team in the city.

The F.A.S.C. took an abbreviated contest from the B. & M. car shop team on Saturday, 7 to 1. Prescott's pitching was a feature.

The St. Peter's A. A. wants games with any of the fast teams in the city or suburbs and has open dates on May 17 and May 24. Answer through this paper.

The Federals added another victory to their string Saturday when they defeated the Union A. C., 10 to 9.

MAHONEY LEADS HIGH SCHOOL BATTERS

With the complete score of the Nashua high game of April 26 missing, a tabulation of the other five games played this season by the local high school team shows three men hitting better than .300—Borash, who played in but one game, and Mahoney and Brosnan, regulars. Mahoney is the real leader with an average of .400 and Brosnan to close up with .304. The averages follow: Borash .333, Mahoney .400, Brosnan .304, Condon .250, Reynolds .238, Cahill .225, O'Hell .200, Gleason .200, Anastos .200, Birkenhead .182, Mansur .166, Ordway .166, Lawler .152.

Mahoney leads in runs scored with six, and Cahill and Mahoney are tied for stolen bases with five each. Only two hits for extra bases are registered, Reynolds having a double to his credit and Ordway a triple. Birkenhead hit a double in the missing Nashua game besides two singles, which would make his average if the score were available.

The local team plays Lawrence in Lawrence on Wednesday of this week, and one of the hardest games of the season is anticipated. Ordway will probably pitch.

MANSUR WINS HIGH JUMP AT AMHERST

Warren Mansur, Lowell high school, won the high jump at the open track and field meet held on Saturday at the Massachusetts Agricultural college at Amherst. He had but little competition and took first place with a leap of five feet. One hundred and sixty-eight representatives of 50 high schools from all parts of the state and Connecticut were in Amherst for the day as guests of the college. They were entertained by fraternities, at a banquet and by the musical clubs.

TEXTILE DEFEATS N. H. STATE, 6 TO 2

Lowell Textile defeated New Hampshire State college at Durham Saturday afternoon, 6 to 2, haunching the day with a single and some loose fielding in the fifth inning to score four runs. Moon pitched a strong game for Lowell, allowing only three hits. Clayton hit well. The score:

Textile 0 1 0 1 4 0 0 0—6
N. H. State 0 0 1 0 0 0 0 0—2

Batteries: Moon and Goldman; Boutwell, Shuttlesworth and Smith.

BIG A.E.F. RELAY RACE FOR MAY 30

PARIS, May 12.—Ten teams from the American Expeditionary Forces will participate in a relay race from Chateau-Thierry to Paris on Memorial day afternoon, 6 to 2, haunching the day with a single and some loose fielding in the fifth inning to score four runs. Moon pitched a strong game for Lowell, allowing only three hits. Clayton hit well. The score:

Textile 0 1 0 1 4 0 0 0—6
N. H. State 0 0 1 0 0 0 0 0—2

Batteries: Moon and Goldman; Boutwell, Shuttlesworth and Smith.

MIKE HAYDEN COMING TO LOWELL TEAM

Mike Hayden, well remembered as a catcher on the Portland team in the New England league a few seasons ago, and last year with the International league, has been signed as catcher manager of this year's Lowell N. E. league team and will come to the city on Wednesday to take up his managerial reins. Hayden has the experience gained through several years of campaigning and should make a splendid nucleus for the Lowell outfit.

THE LAWRENCE TEAM

The Lawrence team had planned to get started today, but rain probably interfered with the arrangements. Owner Fred Leary hasn't given much of a line on the players who will report, but it is understood that men who have had considerable diamond experience will be interspersed with youngsters of promise. Amateur talent in Lawrence will be given every opportunity to make good. Mr. Leary has announced.

WILL DEBATE THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS

The board of trade has received a telegram Senator Moses of New Hampshire, whom the board had invited to come to Lowell to take the negative side in a debate on the League of Nations in this city into this month, in which he regrets his inability to do so owing to the early convening of congress. George W. Anderson, a federal judge of Boston, will speak on the affirmative side of the question and the board of trade is now looking for a qualified opponent.

Campaign For Ireland Opens

In Associate hall which gave the drive a fine send-off and netted $1500 from 15 subscribers who pledged $100 apiece.

The local campaign is part of a nation-wide drive to secure funds to present Ireland's claims for self-determination to the proper authorities as well as to the general public. The campaign ends a week from today, May 19.

Headquarters for the campaign have been established at Room 11 of the Associate building and all information pertaining to the drive may be obtained there. The telephone number is 1380.

Nine teams of solicitors will canvass the city thoroughly during the week with authorized credentials and receipt cards. Those who wish to subscribe to the campaign are asked to send their subscriptions voluntarily to Thomas J. Fitzgerald, campaign treasurer, at 468 Merrimack street, and thus save the time and efforts of the solicitors.

The executive committee in charge of the drive is as follows: John J. Chibride, James O'Sullivan, Edward J. Felt, John H. Murphy, Michael Corbett, Dr. James W. O'Connor, William Crowley, Gen. Gardner W. Pearson, James F. Miskella, Joseph Donohoe, Charles L. Warren, Frank P. McGilly, Henry L. Bourke, Hon. James B. Casey, Hon. Charles S. Lilley, Daniel J. Murphy, John P. Corbett, Anthony Conway and Daniel Cosgrove.

Last Evening's Meeting

The formal opening of the campaign took place last evening in Associate hall before an audience that filled every seat in the ample auditorium despite the disquieting and discomforting weather. The speaker of the evening was Judge J. M. Wall, of Southbrook, N. J., a trained journalist, a co-worker of Charles Stewart Parnell and a constant fighter for Irish freedom. His address last evening was a logical exposition of the status of Ireland today and her hopes for tomorrow. He maintained that the Irish question was no more puzzling than any other question of right and wrong. The people of Ireland have only recently expressed their desire for self-determination in a most emphatic manner, he said, and the argument that pro-English Irishmen predominate the province of Ulster is a fallacy, as he showed by facts and figures.

Judge Wall interspersed the serious phases of his address with lighter narration of pertinent nature and he proved a very forceful, logical and entertaining speaker.

The audience represented all sections of the city and listened eagerly to every remark of Judge Wall. Time and time again it showed its enthusiasm for the subject of his discussion and his witty comment either by vigorous applause or ripples of laughter.

The meeting opened shortly after 8 o'clock and on the platform were Mayor Perry D. Thompson, Rt. Rev. Mr. O'Brien, members of the executive committee in charge of the drive, Humphrey O'Sullivan, Thomas J. Fitzgerald, Hon. James B. Casey and others.

Mr. Fitzgerald opened the meeting and thanked those present for their display of co-operation in coming to the meeting despite the unfavorable weather. He expressed confidence that the Irish drive would go way beyond the quota of $10,000 before the end of the week. Earnest effort on the part of all would bring it about, he said.

Cards were then distributed for those who wished to subscribe to the fund, to be turned in later.

Humphrey O'Sullivan was introduced as the presiding officer of the evening and was cordially received.

He said that the meeting was prompted by a recent meeting of the friends of Ireland in Philadelphia when it was decided that funds would have to be raised to counteract English propaganda in this country. Lowell was assigned $10,000 of Massachusetts' quota of $100,000. He believed that this city would raise her share in a few days. Every section of the city will be covered by solicitors, he said.

In introducing Judge Wall, the speaker of the evening, Mr. O'Sullivan referred to him as a man who had received the praises of Cardinal O'Connell for his work in behalf of Ireland.

Judge J. M. Wall

In opening, the speaker said that the words of President Wilson were stating the Irish case as clearly as any that had ever been uttered and were doing much for the cause. He summed up the situation as it is today by saying that Ireland wants England to clear from her shores and give her the right of self-government.

Much time was given by the speaker to the Ulster question, which he said seemed to be the barrier between Ireland and freedom in the minds of English diplomats, at least. He had a fund of figures at his command to prove that Ulster was preponderantly pro-Irish. He maintained that Irish self-government could be no worse than the government now in sway, but he recalled the success of Grattan's parliament to refute the lie that the Irish cannot govern themselves.

He said that it wasn't being insisted that Ireland be governed by Ireland, but rather that it be governed by a government sanctioned by the people. The present English government, he assured his speakers, is not thus sanctioned.

"We are grateful to President Wilson," he said, "for the term 'self-determination.' It is the watchword of the day."

The speaker then went into detail on the Ulster question. Only a part of Ulster is opposed to self-determination for Ireland, he said, only the northeast corner of the province, which is pro-English. He characterized the claim that Ulster was a unit against Irish freedom as "fantastic." With the exception of the Protestant majority in the city of Belfast, Ulster is evenly divided between Catholics and Protestants. All the Catholics are for Ireland's freedom, but not all Protestants are for England. That is a pertinent fact in connection with the Ulster question which must be remembered, he maintained.

In two of Ulster's counties there is is 67 per cent. A little mathematical English population. These two counties go to make up only a fourth of all Ulster. In the other three-fourths of the section, comprising seven counties, the pro-Irish population is 67 per cent. A little mathematical reasoning will prove the absurdity of the claim that Ulster is not pro-Irish, he said.

In closing, Judge Wall said that the people who were opposing Irish freedom were being misled and duped. He hoped for the day when they would see the situation with clearer vision and the inspired words of old Ireland's poets in which they pictured her freedom would be matters of reality. He closed his address with an excerpt from a poem by Thomas Davis, appealing for the union of orange and green. Resolutions were adopted endorsing the Irish republic and appealing for Ireland's right to self-determination.

In the course of the evening entertainment was furnished by Commissioner James E. Donnelly, Miss Maurine Quinn and Miss Frances Goggin. Miss Margaret Goggin and Mrs. Alice McLaughlin accompanied.

JULIA ARTHUR

"THE CAVELL CASE"

THE FIRST appearance of JULIA ARTHUR in ANY picture. It needed a strong, purposeful play of this kind to appeal to Miss Arthur, and she certainly portrays her part well—as many will testify. It's worth repeating, so we are giving Lowell another chance to see this powerful, masterly photoplay of truthful events.

SEN. BORAH THREATENS TO QUIT G.O.P.

WASHINGTON, May 9.—Senator Borah of Idaho in a letter made public today reaffirming his opposition to the League of Nations, asked that the republican party announce its attitude on the adoption of the league covenant and intimated that if approval were given the document he would quit the party. The letter was written to the editor of the Boston Transcript.

"It is a matter about which only cowards and political pimps could have no convictions," wrote the senator. "Can a partisan under such circumstances ask what about 1920? Can a political party under such circumstances stand aside—can it jayhawk between the lines and still expect to hold the confidence and respect of a vigorous and brave people? Can it decline to have opinions? Can a republican go feeling and smelling around as a white-livered satellite of base expediency? It would be a thousand times better to stand forth, even if defeated with certainty."

"If the republican party could even through defeat save the sacred traditions of America, preserve American institutions and maintain unimpaired the independence and untrammelled sovereignty of the republic it would render a service second not even to its heroic service under the leadership of the blessed martyr. But suppose it should be said to such men as myself that the party might be in favor of the proposition? Very well, let it say so. Let it surrender its place if it wants to as the defender of American institutions and American ideals. And let those who would abhor such hideous cowardice fumigate themselves and get out. Even this would be more honorable than to go skulking through such a night without views or convictions or even an attitude. I would not ask my party to agree with me but I would ask it to state its position and I will soon determine my course. I despise a coward and I hate a traitor."

"BEHINDHANDERS" TO DISAPPEAR WITH BOOZE, SAYS THEATRICAL PRODUCER SELWYN

BY J. H. DUCKWORTH.
NEW YORK, May 10.—"Behindhanders" will become extinct when the United States passes from wet to the dry age.

"Behindhanders" are people who arrive at the theatre late, tread on other folks' toes, sweep coats and wraps from seats and make the actors lose their cues.

"Prohibition will exterminate these behindhanders," says Archibald Selwyn, the theatrical producer. "I have found that 80 per cent of them are out-of-towners who have bought their tickets at the hotels. I know this because we sell the same block of seats to the hotels every night.

"These people have a big dinner, sit too long over their liquors and highballs and then turn up at the show late and disturb everybody.

"There are 87 legitimate theatres in New York with a total seating capacity of over 90,000. Ten per cent, or 9,000 turn up late. Eighty per cent of the dawdlers come from the hotels, so I figure that when booze is banished 7200 nightly behindhanders will disappear."

ASSISTING SOLDIERS AND SAILORS HERE

Congressman John Jacob Rogers is endeavoring to assist Lowell soldiers and sailors in every way possible to clean up their various relations with the government in the few remaining days that he will spend in Lowell before he leaves for Washington next week prior to the convening of congress on May 19.

The congressman has handled a large number of allotment cases for Lowell men and their relatives and another matter to which he is giving his attention is the procuring of naturalization certificates for men who were naturalized while in the national service.

As is generally known, thousands of men became naturalized while in the army or navy. Although this was not obligatory, every opportunity was given men in the service to become naturalized and many Lowell men of foreign birth took the opportunity.

When a man was naturalized while in the service his certificate of naturalization was retained for safe-keeping by the bureau of naturalization at Washington. Congressman Rogers learned after an investigation. These were to be kept until the soldier or sailor was discharged. Eventually when such men were discharged few of them bothered to get their naturalization certificates. Then when they got back into civil life and wished to get their names on the voting list, they were first asked for their naturalization papers. These weren't forthcoming and many of the foreign-born men had no idea where they were. The first source of appeal was Congressman Rogers and at once he made an investigation and found where the certificates had been kept during the war.

He also ascertained that the owners of the certificates might obtain them by applying to the bureau of naturalization, Washington, D. C., and stating when and where the naturalization took place, together with the writer's present address.

The congressman stated today that any naturalized soldier or sailor who wished to obtain his papers might apply at his office and he would see that they were forwarded from Washington.

Centralville Honors Sons

urs were in line. Two medal men, Private William Cavenay of the 104th Infantry and Private Joseph O'Brien of the 191st Infantry, were among the marchers.

Several Killies and probably a dozen Canadian fighters were mingled in with the doughboys and sailors. The officers included Lieut. Lawrence Connors, Thomas Duffy and Daniel Sullivan. Former Representative Charles H. Slowe, recently discharged from overseas service, was also in line.

When the paraders passed St. Michael's school in Sixth street they were greeted by the children of the school, standing in orderly lines in front of the church in attire of the national colors. At the Tenth street school, the pupils of that school, the Greenidge, Yarnum and St. Louis schools, gave a similar greeting.

The parade was reviewed at Bridge and Seventh streets by Congressman Rogers, Mayor and Mrs. Thompson, all the members of the city council, Hon. Charles S. O'Connor of South Boston, Representative John Englett, also of Boston, Lieut. George D. Crowell and several others. The chief marshal and his staff reviewed the marchers at Fourth street and at First street they were dismissed. It took the parade approximately half an hour to pass a given point.

The Evening Banquet

It was 6 o'clock before the parade assembled in St. Louis' hall for the evening exercises. Fully 400 uniformed men and 100 others were present. An excellent turkey supper was served by Caterer Lydon and when cigars had been passed, Thomas M. Tarpey, chairman of the banquet committee, called to order. Dr. Richard J. McCluskey was introduced as toastmaster. The latter welcomed the soldiers and guests in a most enthusiastic speech. Rev. Francis J. Mullin was introduced and he bade all present a welcome in behalf of the clergy of Centralville. He said that the men in front of him had gone to war to destroy autocracy and to protect freedom and democracy and that now all peoples of the world were to be given the benefit of the victory.

Congressman Rogers told of his meeting Lowell men during his trip to France. He assured them that they were to be a strong political factor in the future of the country. He urged them to use this power in the most intelligent manner.
Hon. Charles S. O'Connor, a former member of the legislature, made a most vigorous address in which he pictured in glowing terms the exploits of the doughboys overseas as they avenged the Lusitania. He urged support of Irish freedom and asked for belief in God, America and victory.

Other speakers included Rev. George Marston, Rev. J. B. Labossiere, Mayor Perry D. Thompson, Rev. F. A. Perron, Representative John Englett of South Boston and Senator Arthur W. Colburn. Each congratulated Centralville's fighting men on their gallantry and spoke of various associated topics of interest.

The final number was the singing of "America" by all present under the direction of Albert Edmund Brown.

BITTER ATTACK ON AMERICA

Brazilian Journalist Says United States Is the Prussia of Tomorrow

Accuses U. S. of Fomenting Revolution in Mexico—Belittles Our Part in War

RIO JANEIRO, Sunday, May 11.—An attack upon the United States is made by Madeiros de Albuquerque, generally considered one of the leading journalists of Brazil, in a long interview printed today in A Noite:

"I return from the United States," he says, "with much enthusiasm for England, Italy, France, Belgium, Japan and, perhaps above all, Mexico." He accuses the United States of fomenting revolution in Mexico and says that "Brazil is considered by the United States only as a possible future colony." He adds: "The United States wants to obtain as part of the payment of the debt of France and England, a bond for Brazil's debts to those powers. On the day this is realized, Brazil will be sold to the United States, which on the first occasion we fail to meet the interest, will do to us as she has done to Central American nations."

Senior Albuquerque belittles the part the United States took in the war, saying that the only American victory was the battle at St. Mihiel, which, he says, was "gained with English artillery and French aviation" and attacks the censorship which he remarks has "prevented these and other facts from becoming known." He attacks the Monroe Doctrine and President Wilson, ridiculing the president's activities in the peace congress. He concludes by saying: "The United States incontestably is the Prussia of tomorrow."

Arthur D. Prince Favorably Impressed With Future of American Business Abroad

Arthur D. Prince, of this city, returned home yesterday after a two months' trip in England and France taken primarily for business purposes yet presenting an opportunity for intensely interesting observation, such as has been afforded to but few men in Lowell or any other New England city. Mr. Prince after three weeks in England, travelled extensively in France, visiting Paris and going into the southern part of the country, and to the north, over many of the battle fronts to Chateau Thierry, Belleau Wood and Rheims and at the former headquarters of the 26th Division.

He comes back firmly impressed with the splendid future of American business abroad, as he believes it will be months and possibly years before either England or France can adjust themselves through the period of reconstruction to pre-war conditions of business and trade. Export business in these countries is impossible for a long time, he believes due to the utter lack of raw materials and the scarcity of labor.

BIG OVERSUBSCRIPTION

District Now $300,000 Over Its Quota, With Town Reports Still Incomplete

From all indications, North Middlesex district will over-subscribe her Victory loan quota by $300,000, and possibly by an even wider margin. Small individual subscriptions continued to trickle into local banks today, and with an uncertainty concerning the exact amounts of town totals still prevailing the complete district quota is not yet available. As it now stands only one town, Ayer, failed to reach its quota, but the 19 others, almost without exception, went well over. Notable work was done in Bedford, Needham Heights, Reading, Shirley, Weymouth and Wilmington.

Lowell's total now stands at $5,141,200 plus, an over-subscription of $166,200, but this will be considerably augmented today and tomorrow. The city's total so far has been secured through 3218 subscriptions, and with the number of subscriptions in Ayer and Tyngsboro missing, the district shows 13,122 subscribers.

The bank tabulation follows:
Union National $2,323,150
Appleton National 1,595,500
Old Lowell 295,700
Middlesex Trust Co. 352,200
Lowell Trust Co. 190,350
Waverly National 89,350
Savings banks totals not included above 638,050
Boston credits 214,900

Grand total for Lowell, $5,592,200
Deduct town credits 451,700
Net Lowell total $5,141,200

The subscriptions from the savings banks, amounting to $2,524,000, and including $1,230,950 from the City Institution for Savings; $600,000, Lowell Institution for Savings; $500,000, Central Savings bank; $200,000 Mechanics Savings bank; $100,000, Lowell Pilot Savings bank; $100,000, Washington Savings Institution; and $22,050, Merrimack River Savings bank, are included in the above National bank totals.

World War Veterans From Across the River Feted and Honored by 25,000

Not since the never-to-be-forgotten night before a certain Fourth of July some 10 or 12 years ago, when "Joe" Pliske staged his historic slambang parade up and down the highways and byways of Centralville and attracted a gathering from all parts of the city whose size necessitated a squad of police hanging a S.R.O. sign at the entrance to Central bridge has the thriving and industrious community on the other side of the Merrimack plotted and planned such a brilliant, successful and happy public celebration as that which she tendered her 500 soldier and sailor sons, born of the world war, Saturday afternoon and evening. It was a "large" day for Centralville, an entertaining day for the thousands.

DISCONTENT IN ITALY GROWS

ROME, Sunday, May 11.—(By the Associated Press)—The discontent and irritation of the people are again growing, because of news from Paris that Italy is not likely to get what she claims on the eastern shore of the Adriatic.

The Messagero says: "President Wilson is obstinately obdurate in his views regarding Fiume, showing that he has not changed his mind."

Other reasons for dissatisfaction are the Anglo-Franco-American alliance from which Italy was excluded; the asserted project that the former Austrian merchant marine will be divided among the allies, although it is held it belongs entirely to Italian firms; the clause in the treaty with Germany saying the three principal powers were sufficient to ratify the treaty, thus, it is alleged, again excluding Italy; and the reported scheme to place Albania under the protection of France. All the newspapers of Rome publish adverse comments on these subjects.

CAMPAIGN FOR IRELAND OPENS

Local United Irish Societies Begin Drive For $10,000 Fund Here

Judge Wall of New Jersey, Principal Speaker at Mass Meeting in Associate Hall

The United Irish societies of Lowell today opened their week's drive for funds for the Irish republic by active soliciting on the part of nine teams in each of the wards of the city and this afternoon the campaign committee was able to report approximately one-fifth of the city's minimum quota of $10,000, or about $2000, already raised.

While Thomas J. Fitzgerald, treasurer of the campaign, had no official tabulation prepared this afternoon, the number of subscriptions which were received together with the work done by the soliciting teams netted a sum generally conceded at the $2000 mark and this will undoubtedly be substantially boosted by this evening.

Among the subscriptions received today was a check for $25 from Stephen Rochette of the Lowell Motor Mart who wrote on his check: "May Ireland be free."

The campaign was opened with a preliminary mass meeting last evening.

Measuring Up To Your Expectations

Men were never fussier than now about their clothes.

Not only is this true of the young men taught through army discipline to have their clothes just right—and to stand straight—but of the older men who seem to have inherited something of the military spirit that's in the air. Counts that cling to the waist and that give that straight back effect are most in favor.

We met this demand by showing a great variety of suits in these, dressy styles—and it's wonderful how readily we fit men of all sorts and shapes.

Anti-Peace Demonstrations in Germany

BERLIN, Sunday, May 11.—Big demonstrations against the signing of the peace treaty by Germany were held today in Berlin, Breslau, Danzig, Koenigsberg, Cassel, Bochum and other places. The demonstrations were organized by the National People's party.

"If this treaty comes to pass, I will bring up my children in hatred," said Deputy Traub, speaking in Berlin.

Dr. Gustav Stresemann, one of the people's party leaders, spoke in protest against the demand for the surrender of former Emperor William. If the German people complied with it they would be without shame or honor, he declared.

WASHINGTON, May 12.—President Chamorro of Nicaragua, has been warned by the American government against attempting any invasion of Costa Rica. Officials said, however, that they had no information to show whether these forces were Nicaraguan troops or revolutionists.

War Board Insists Strikers Abide by Award, Effective Until End of War

Union Claims War Ended Nov. 11—Board Says War On Till Treaty Is Signed

WASHINGTON, May 12.—The war labor board prepared a telegram today to the officers of the International Association of Mill, Pulp & Sulphite Workers, demanding that the union abide by the board's award, which is effective until the end of the war. "The action resulted from strikes at various plants of the International Paper Co."

The union has claimed that the war ended Nov. 11, and has announced that the workers are free to seek increased wages and improved working conditions. The war labor board takes the position that the war is not over until the treaty of peace is ratified and that the action of the union practically repudiates the agreement. The award was made by the board in conjunction with the federal trade commission, which investigated production costs and established a price for print paper and similar products on the basis of the wages and costs.

All Plants Affected

GLENS FALLS, N. Y., May 12.—Nearly all the 35 plants of the International Paper Co. throughout the country were idle today, involving approximately 5000 unionized workers, according to reports received here. The strike began yesterday for increased wages. In all of the plants from which word has been received, the unions have permitted women to remain on duty to care for the fires and boilers. The local plants idle were those at Corinth and at Fort Edwards. At Corinth, police guarded the mills. Union leaders said they did not expect a prolonged strike.

Case of Henry Ford Against Chicago Paper Opened Today—Many Witnesses

MOUNT CLEMENS, Mich., May 12.—The $1,000,000 libel suit of Henry Ford against the Chicago Daily Tribune opened today with a conference of the lawyers and Judge James G. Tucker as to hours of sessions and other details of the daily program.

Mr. Ford arrived before the hearing began and was told by his counsel that he would not be needed in court today.

"Well, the Tribune subpoenaed me, and I thought I would come," he said, "but there is a delegation from Ohio wants to see me today and if it's all right, I'll go back and meet them."

The Ford forces are housed in a hotel on the outskirts of the city, where they took over 25 rooms. At the opposite end of the city the equally numerous Tribune forces occupy a wing of a prominent hotel. The suit resulted from Ford being called an anarchist by the Tribune during a preparedness campaign three years ago.

Peace Conditions no Harder Than Was To Be Expected, Says Harden

BERLIN, via London, May 12.—Maximilian Harden, editor of the Berlin Zukunft, writing on the peace treaty says:

"The peace conditions are not harder than I expected. They were unpleasant to the greater part of the people. But could one really have expected them otherwise?"

"The Germans have not given very convincing mental guarantees during the six months since the revolution that they have changed their system; on the contrary the present government and the press have used the same methods of incitement, the same tricks of bluff as under the old rule of the petty nobility."

"The government's proclamations and speeches are only had copies of the Kaiser's time. The whole press resounds in protest and has started a campaign of incitement against the allies, couched in violent language. It is agitating for refusal to sign the treaty; and to what use? All must know that the allies, by keeping up the blockade and occupying the coal districts, can force Germany to sign whatever they want."

"The allies have been threatened that Germany would join the Bolsheviks; but that would be suicidal. The only way to rescue the country is by openness and honesty. The revolution has been a great disappointment."

"Germany should have sent men who

STATE BOARD APPROVES NEW WELL LAND

Commissioner Charles J. Morse of the water department was notified today by the state board of health that the latter body approved the several lots of land recently taken over by the water department on the Pawtucket boulevard for the installation of new wells. The board also condemned the present Cook wells for the reason that they are not producing water of standard purity and recommended the installation of a number of new wells in their stead.

The opinion of the state board has been anticipated by the work of Commissioner Morse as he has already installed 31 new wells, is running the Cook wells only a day or a day and a half per week and plans to close them entirely as soon as there are sufficient new wells to take their place. The Cook wells were first opened in 1893 and have been in operation off and on for quarter of a century.

from all parts of the city to whom she played hostess and a supremely happy day for the gallant body of fighting men around whom the entire fuss revolved.

A 100 per cent perfect Swiss watch had nothing on the celebration for precision and collection of a dozen distinct vaudeville bills combined with a couple of circuses could not have excelled or outnumbered it in the matter of surprises and novelties. As one of the Centralville "Tanks" said after it was all over, the celebration had "everything."

Precisely at 3:15 Chief Marshal William H. Noonan gave the command, "Forward!" and stepping off first was a platoon of police under command of Sgt. Hugh McGuire. The platoon included Patroleins Frechette, C. Sullivan, Creamer, Gullon, Quinlan, Cossette, Conlon and Maroney.

Directly behind followed Chief Marshal Noonan on foot, wearing a white sash and accompanied by Hon. John T. Sparks, chief of staff, who wore a red sash; Edmund Gagnon, adjutant, wearing a dark blue sash; Rev. Francis J. Mullin, chaplain; P. L. Balcolm, chief aid, and the following aids: Thomas Carroll, Joseph F. Tully, W. D. Pierce, Thomas J. Donnelly, John McFadden, E. J. Callahan, E. M. McKinley, Charles S. Chaplin, Charles T. Haskell, Dr. R. K. Henderson, May F. Webster, John A. Crowley, Senator Arthur W. Colburn, J. J. Gallagher and T. J. Fitzgerald.

The Lowell Cadet band sent the marchers off with a lively step and from Read and Sixth streets, where it started, the parade continued down into West Sixth street, to Jewett, Lakeview avenue, Aiken avenue, back

Dismiss the Grouch

Do you ever feel grouchy, that is, all tired out and wish it was possible for you to take a rest?

A change of environment is all you need. Now suppose that living room was fixed up. Change things around, repaper the walls, make it look like a different room.

By making the room look different, you will be changing the entire atmosphere of your home. Put some cheerful, soft colored paper on the walls. It will help you to dismiss that grouchy feeling and make you feel better.

A bright, cheerful home is necessary, after a hard day's work.

FIRST DIVISION

In the first division came the veterans of the Spanish war, led by Commander William J. Prescott. The veterans turned out in goodly numbers and were given a hand all along the line of march. Leading the division was Lieut. Joseph P. Kearney in navy uniform and overseas cap. The veterans were followed by Garde St. Louis, commanded by Capt. Alfred Grenier; the A. G. Cadets, commanded by A. E. Bernier; three divisions of Boy Scouts, commanded by Scout Executive R. I. Ripley and Deputy Commissioners A. E. Thurston and O. E. Coburn. The Polish Falcons, in their attractive uniforms, were next in line and were commanded by Capt. Frank Koronick.

THE SECOND DIVISION

The second division was headed by Dr. Richard J. McCluskey, marshal, and included besides the Lowell Military band, about 200 members of St. Nicholas's Holy Name society, 100 members of the Centralville lodge of Odd Fellows and a commendable representation of the men of St. Louis' parish under the leadership of George Lambert.

The third division was the "fair sex" division of the parade. James F. McNamara proved a gallant marshal and assigned the "dear girls" in line with discretion and satisfaction to all. The U. S. Cartridge Co. band saw to it that Susie and Irene kept in step.

Salvation Army Lassies

First in line were seven Salvation Army lassies, commanded by Adjutant E. C. Clark. Following them came a large group of Community Service club girls, attired in charming patriotic gowns, with jaunty caps of the national colors, and led by Miss Rose Heath. The Daughters of Rebekah were commanded by Mrs. D. I. Caswell. Next came the Liberty girls in gala attire, led by Miss Belle Bourke.

A dozen or so "yeomen, feminine," forming themselves under the general caption of Centralville girls, provided a very pretty feature. The young women were dressed in sailor costumes and several of them carried a miniature battleship. Miss Margaret Bray was in command.

Miss Madeline Descoteaux commanded the Butterfly girls and they, too, made an excellent appearance. The Red Cross girls, commanded by Miss Alice Tweed, were natty and smart in their costumes and the 101st auxiliary delegation, under command of Miss Margaret Tobin and Mrs. Katherine Donovan, received a big band. Miss Jennie Mack commanded the United States Worsted girls.

The Butterfly girls also made a very pretty showing. They were led by Miss Madeline Descoteaux. Miss Mary Cunningham led an attractive unit of Centralville girls and the Girl scouts, in uniform, were commanded by Miss Alice Jenkins. A service flag with two gold stars and 17 blue was carried by the women of the Fifth Street Baptist church commanded by Albert Shaw. Mrs. Emma Veritable led the Belgian women and they were given an ovation all along the line of march.

A number of floats lent added color to the parade. One was a Victory loan

Boston Janitor Faked Holdup Story

BOSTON, May 12.—Pierce Johnson, janitor of an apartment house in the Back Bay district, reported to the police today that he had been robbed of $177 by three men who walked into the basement of the building where he was at work before daylight, and held him up at the point of a revolver. He was unable to give much of a description of the men or to furnish any clues.

A few hours previously, John F. Leyden of Neponset, reported having been held up by two men on Washington street, in the South End district. When they found that Leyden had but $5, they knocked him down. A policeman who heard his calls for help succeeded in capturing one of the men.

After grilling by the police, Johnson is said to have admitted that his story was fictitious and that he made it up because he was short on rent collections. He was arrested on a charge of larceny.

BOSTON, May 12.—Search by the coast guard cutter Ossipee for the wreckage of a seaplane sighted Saturday forty miles east of Provincetown, by the destroyer McDermut, has been unsuccessful thus far but will be continued as soon as the northeast storm is over. The cutter reported to the navy yard here today from Provincetown, where she put in last night.

The seaplane is thought to be the one which was lost at sea during the flight in connection with the Yankee division parade here April 25. The bodies of the three men of the crew are believed to be entangled in the wreckage.

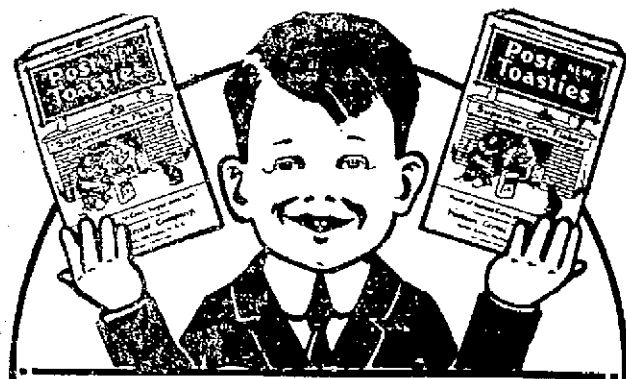

Wilson To Visit Brussels May 20

BRUSSELS, May 12. (By the Associated Press.)—President Wilson will visit Brussels about May 20, according to the Independence Belge, which adds that his visit will "dissipate misunderstandings and establish the good will of the allies toward Belgium."

Several projects, it is stated, are under consideration, including the choice of Antwerp as the European commercial base of the United States. Dr. Epitacio Pessoa, president-elect of Brazil, said before leaving yesterday that he would renew his promise to help Belgium by sending raw materials and organizing a commercial base at Antwerp. A Japanese delegation is now visiting Antwerp with a view to studying collaboration by Japan in the reconstruction of Belgian industry.

HOME WELCOME TO HER HEROES

At the request of the committee in charge of the "Welcome Home" day celebration in honor of the soldiers and sailors of Chelmsford, which will take place June 17, the students of the high school will canvass the town from house to house in order to obtain all information wanted concerning the boys in the service. Later the committee will communicate directly with the men who were in the service and will provide them with tickets entitling them to take part in the features of the big celebration, which will include a banquet in the North village at noon, supper in both the Centre and North town halls in the evening, band concerts in both districts during the day and concert and ball in the two town halls in the evening. The town has appropriated $500 for the celebration and it is expected that the balance of the money needed to carry out the plans of the celebration, will be subscribed by generous residents of the town as well as by manufacturing concerns.

Many Converts For Weldon

Enthusiastic Supporters Crowd Headquarters

The storm of discussion aroused by the success of Weldon, the new non-alcoholic remedy for rheumatism being introduced here, has attracted attention of the larger cities and crowds continue to take advantage of the Weldon man's visit.

N. H. Vincent, the Weldon Man, Who Says You Must Drive Rheumatism From the Blood.

One old gentleman when seen at the headquarters, Dows' Drug Store, and when asked what he thought of this new remedy, said: "What do I think? Well, I'll tell you. I firmed in here about ten days ago with about the worst case of rheumatism a body ever had and still walk. I think about every joint and muscle in my body was full of pins and needles. I ached continually. I couldn't move without my joints creaking like a rusty hinge on a barn door. Couldn't get a night's rest, had to put my arms up over my shoulders to get any comfort. "I think I have taken about three barrels of medicine, don't know of anything I haven't taken and thought I might as well try this stuff—Weldon. Most medicine I took hurt my stomach like the mischief, think I'd eaten cannon balls, so I was a little timid about taking anything. Well, I got some, anyway—and here I be—they say Weldon is different and you bet it is. In ten days' time I never knew I had rheumatism and haven't a pain or an ache—and had cabbage Sunday for dinner. I want to get some for a neighbor of mine who is just as bad as I was. If I ever get to talk to that rheumatism man."

Many others were just as enthusiastic. It was a big day for Weldon. Weldon is composed of herbs, roots and other ingredients, put up in convenient form without alcohol. Does not irritate the stomach, the heart or any other organ. Drive rheumatism from the blood, drive it from the system is the Weldon man's slogan. It was stated that Mr. Vincent would continue to meet the public every day and evening at Dows' drug store to explain more about Weldon and give out the free book, "Germs of Rheumatism—How They Live—How They Die."—Adv.

Villa Band Wrecks Five Bridges

WASHINGTON, May 12.—Five bridges on the branch of the National Railways of Mexico between Torreon and Chihuahua City, have been destroyed by Villa's forces, according to advices from Mexico City. The despatches say that when traffic is restored, every train will be preceded by an exploring train carrying a guard of federal troops large enough to repulse any rebel raid.

Troops are being moved from Torreon to protect workmen in rebuilding the bridges.

Says Belgium "Gagged and Mutilated"

BRUSSELS, Sunday, May 11.—A demonstration organized by a number of patriotic societies, has sent addresses to King Albert expressive of the Belgian people's disappointment to find the country had been "gagged and mutilated" and is obtaining neither the guarantees nor the reparation promised by the allies. The addresses complain that indemnities provided are inadequate and ask the king to "save Belgium from the ruin which threatens her."

GETS LICENSE BACK

Lyons Not Responsible For
Death of Emeline Goyette
—Auto Licenses Revoked

(Special to The Sun)

STATE HOUSE, Boston, May 12.—After a thorough investigation of the automobile accident of April 3, in which Emeline Goyette of Lowell lost her life, the Massachusetts highway commission has decided that it occurred without serious fault on the part of Thomas F. Lyons, who was operating the fatal car, and his license to act as a chauffeur in this state has accordingly been reinstated.

The commission has revoked the operator's license of Elmer E. Stoddard of Lowell, as a result of his conviction in the Lowell court April 9 on a charge of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating liquor.

Because of his conviction April 24 on a charge of operating a motor vehicle in such a manner as to endanger the lives and safety of the public, the commission has forbidden Fortunat Audet of Lowell to drive a motor vehicle in such a manner as to endanger the lives and safety of the public, but has been driving under the general authority given to any person to drive an automobile provided a licensed person is in the machine at the time.

Mila E. Abajand, a Lawrence chauffeur, is another whose license has been revoked by the commission, he having been convicted in the Lowell court April 20 on a charge of operating a motor vehicle in such a manner as to endanger the lives and safety of the public.

Still another license issued for the same cause is that of Leroy N. Valyou of Billerica, his conviction having been recorded in the Cambridge court May 3.

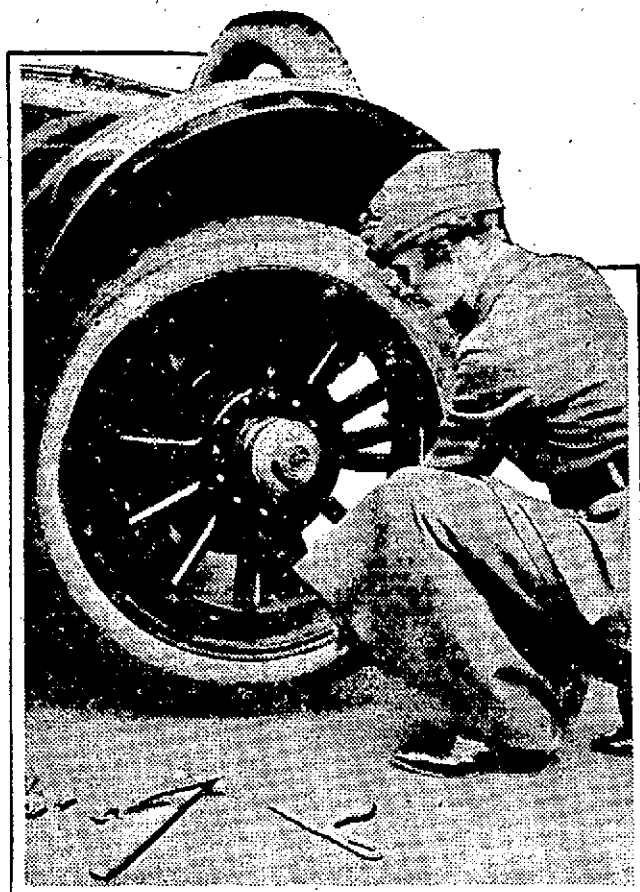

The commission has exonerated Alfred A. Doerfler of Everett, who on April 20 was involved in an accident which resulted in the death of Lena Joyal of Lowell. After an investigation the commission has decided that the accident occurred without serious fault on the part of Doerfler.

Irish-American Delegates Go to Westport After Order To Keep Out

DUBLIN, May 12.—Frank P. Walsh, Edward Dunne and Michael F. Ryan, representatives of Irish societies in the United States, visited Galway yesterday and left in the evening for Westport, notwithstanding the fact that they were officially notified on Saturday they would not be allowed to go there because Westport had been proclaimed a military area. An armored car arrived at Westport yesterday, and military pickets were posted along the roads over which the delegates would travel to that town.

Every Motorist Should Carry a good Strong Jack

BY CAPTAIN KATHERINE RICHARDS

Commanding the Woman's Motor Corps of the National League for Women's Service

CHASING MOTOR TROUBLES AWAY

It is not necessary for the woman car owner to think that she is called upon to make herself an expert machinist, and that she can repair every kind of damage, breakage or trouble that happens to her car.

On the other hand, a great deal of money can be saved by the careful motorist who watches her car, realizes that a small but efficient tool kit is meant for use.

For repairing a slight leak in the water system, a bit of adhesive tape wound tightly around the leak will usually answer; but a well chewed piece of chewing gum is just as good.

For a leak in the gasoline system, often a bit of ordinary soap rubbed in will answer. Shellac will make a more or less permanent repair. Of course if the leak is so bad that a soldering job is necessary, it is best to put the car in the hands of the repair man.

Then there are spark plug troubles. Always carry along spare spark plugs.

The greatest bugbear of the motorist is tire trouble. You should always carry spare tires. But if you are caught without a spare, it is advisable to know how to get home without ruining the rim of your wheel.

One way is to wind rope, cloth or even vines around your flat tire and the rim of the wheel, and drive carefully and slowly until you get to a repair station. If your tire is pretty well worn out anyhow, another method is to stuff it with straw, grass or vines, put it back on the rim and drive slowly home.

One of the most important cases that has recently come before it.

The decision arises in the case of Abraham Saulnier, formerly of Adams, who was killed while in the employ of the Renfrew Mfg. Co., being buried by a cave-in of coal. He was survived by his widow, Rosalie, and by their daughter Rosalie, who was more than 18 years of age, but was an invalid and therefore physically incapacitated from earning. The Liberty Mutual Insurance company paid compensation to the widow at the rate of two-thirds Saulnier's regular wages, up to the date of the death of the daughter; then the company claimed that because of the death of one of the two dependents it was entitled to withhold one-half of the usual compensation.

The matter was referred to Chester E. Gleason of the industrial accident board, and he has made the following decision:

"The finding is made, upon all the facts, that the widow of the employee, Rosalie Saulnier, living with him at the time of his injury and death, is conclusively presumed to be wholly dependent upon him for support and entitled to receive the entire weekly payment of $9.33 under the act. The fact that the daughter, Rosalie, was an invalid and therefore physically incapacitated from earning, does not affect the claimant's rights. The fact that the daughter is now dead does not lessen the insurer's liability, which is the same after death as before, as the rights of the widow were fixed at the time of the death of her husband.

In support of its decision, Mr. Gleason quotes the decision of the supreme court in James' case, 219 Mass., in which it was said:

"The workmen's compensation act does not contemplate either in its letter or its spirit, that the insurer may litigate by appeal to this court the proportions of the division of a payment among those claiming to be dependent upon the deceased employee—when the insurer cannot by any possibility be affected in its pecuniary responsibility by any modification permitted by law of the order of payment."

"What was said in James' case," Mr. Gleason continues, "applies equally well in this case, although in the former instance the question raised by the insurer was whether it was not entitled to be relieved of the obligation to pay one-half of the amount due for total dependency because of the

SO TIRED MORNINGS

Mr. William Smith, 50 East 11th Avenue, Lowell, Janitor at the Y.M.C.A., and well known in this city, said:

"That Goldline medicine certainly surprised me. I had been suffering with stomach trouble for seven years. I had a dull headache most all the time; my food didn't digest, but lay like a stone in my stomach and I would fill up with gas till I could hardly breathe. I had dizzy spells and my heart was going back on me. My back ached and I couldn't sleep nights. In the morning I felt more tired than when I went to bed; just all dragged out and weak. I didn't know anything about Goldline until some one told me I should try it and I did. I had doctored a lot in the last seven years, but that medicine is the only thing I ever got hold of that helped me. I have taken only one bottle and I feel fine. I get up mornings so much stronger and rested for my sleep seems to do me a world of good. I don't have headaches any more, and the dull, dizzy, dragged-out feeling is all gone. No one could have made me believe Goldline or any other medicine could do so much for me in so short a time. You can't say too much in praise of that medicine and you can tell the people of Lowell I said so, and for them to ask me about it."

WILLIAM SMITH, Janitor at Y.M.C.A.
The fact that such men as Mr. Smith are telling the people of Lowell how really good Goldline is, leaves no doubt in any mind of the true value of this remedy, and hundreds are coming for Goldline. It is not a patent medicine, but it has produced results unequalled in this city. We do not diagnose or prescribe but are glad to tell you about Goldline. Don't forget the name or place—

MAY 15. "STRAW HAT DAY"

May 15 is "straw hat day"—i.e., official opening of the men's straw hat season.

Get a jump on this straw hat trade. You know the jobbers have the stock on hand and are willing to make you quick delivery. They want the goods pushed. They want the straw hat season to start with a rush May 15, instead of Decoration day. But they cannot do the job alone.

If May 15 comes and goes and your ad copy does not show to every well dressed man in Lowell that you know it's the official opening of the straw hat season, you will be to blame if the pay train is ditched because you were asleep at the switch.

There are plenty of straw hat cuts down here in The Sun office to be used in your straw hat ads. Boston merchants will be advertising straw hats all this week. Let's make the straw hat season longer. The time to do it is right now. Advertise straw hats all this week starting Tuesday, tomorrow. Be sure to do it in the right way, for the one way is the right way, and that's by using

There is one nation above all others perhaps, that has reason to rejoice, as a result of the recent war, for it brings her liberty and independence after the most bloody persecution of not five or ten, but sixteen centuries. That nation is Armenia.

Faithful, steadfast, sorely tried Armenia, long the helpless victim of Turkish barbarities, suffering without sympathy and with her cries unheard by civilization, through the centuries her people bled under the tyrants of Persia and of Rome, under the Saracens, the Byzantines, Tamerlane, the Turks, and finally the Turco-Germans.

Even as late as 1909, 300,000 Armenian Christians, men, women and children, were slain by the Turks and yet the western world heard but little of these atrocities because Turkey was then part of the European balance of power and the western nations did not consider it any of their business to intervene in behalf of this oppressed people or to put an end to Turkish barbarities. But thanks to the founders of the League of Nations, Armenia is to get her freedom under conditions that will make it secure and enable the people to turn their attention to their own national development and progress, assured that never again will the unspeakable Turk come down upon them with fiendish slaughter intended mainly to satisfy his hatred of Christians and to capture Armenian maidens for the harems.

It is certainly a source of pride that the United States has been the chief crusader for world freedom and the special champion of the freedom of Armenia, and of Poland, another persecuted nation that is to be restored to freedom and to start upon a new career that promises to outshine even the brightest pages of her past history, when she was one of the greatest nations in Europe.

In this deliverance, it is to be deeply regretted that Ireland is not to share, although she has suffered for ages and never submitted to the yoke of the stranger, whether Saxon or Dane.

There is no doubt, however, that the Irish question will be settled in the near future.

The operation of the home rule act, on the statute book since 1914, was suspended until six months after the war and it may be that England will decide by that time to grant autonomy to Ireland, but no halfway measure will be accepted and no measure that will keep alive the old feuds by which the people have been divided in the past. Now that self-determination is in the air, Ireland claims an equal right with any other nation in that privilege to share.

GERMAN IRE

As might have been expected, the Germans will inaugurate a campaign of opposition to the terms of the peace treaty. Already, some of their leaders have sent out the shibboleth that "anarchy is preferable to slavery," intimating that the peace treaty imposes slavery upon the people. For this there is no justification whatever. It is true that the whole fabric of German militarism is leveled to the ground, but this is a matter over which the Germans should rejoice rather than express their indignation.

When the German leaders consider how the people were slaughtered in the recent war, simply to carry out the ambition of the emperor for world conquest, and when they realize that no such power will ever again have sway over them, they should rejoice at their own deliverance. No longer will they be made the so-called "food-draw" for the great guns of Europe or be treated as mere beasts of burden in the prosecution of wars of conquest.

So far from Germany being consigned to slavery, it will be apparent that she has more freedom than ever before for the reason that the people will hereafter be their own masters, invested with power to select their own rulers and make their own laws instead of being at the mercy of the Prussian junkers who, in the past, have given them but slight influence in the legislation affecting the people.

Should Germany, in the future, be attacked by any nation or even by Russia, the powers behind the League of Nations would go to her aid in order to prevent an extension of Russian power at the expense of civilization. Germany at the present time is suffering under the effects of a terrible war, and society is more or less disorganized; but at the same time, conditions in Germany are immeasurably preferable to the Bolshevik regime in Russia.

After peace shall have been fully secured between the allies and the central powers, there will still remain the problem of Russian peace. At the present time, the situation in Russia threatens the peace of Europe and it is difficult to estimate just when or how the atmosphere will be cleared so that some government may be restored in that unhappy country.

It is, therefore, probable that Germany will see matters in a different light before the end of the 15 days given her in which to reach a decision. That the treaty will be duly signed is the opinion of those apparently most capable of judging the German temperament. Any other decision would be only adding to the enormity of their disaster and making more bitter the retribution that is coming.

BUSINESS ECONOMICS

Political economy, or social economy—just as we have in mind to call it—is very simple.

Political economy is nothing but business.

And business is nothing but supplying one another's wants.

When the druggist of a town wants food, he goes to the grocer. When the grocer wants medicine, he goes to the druggist.

Or, enlarge the system to a national one and say that when the people of the south want wheat, they go to the northwest for it; when the people of the northwest want cotton, why, they go to the south for it.

There is a system of counters known as money and used to facilitate the bookkeeping of these transactions.

When this country was first settled, everyone did their own shoemaking and blacksmithing.

Finally, one man in a settlement evidenced more skill than his neighbors as a shoemaker, or as a blacksmith, and the neighbors found it good economy to allow this one to do their shoemaking or blacksmithing while they pursued the general art of farming.

Now, enlarge the process until the country shoeshop becomes a vast shoe factory, or until the country blacksmith becomes a vast metal trade industry, with stores, railroads and banks to facilitate the distribution, transportation and exchange, and the simple principle of business, supplying one another's wants, remains quite the same.

The science of political economy, or business, becomes confusing only when viewed in its extensions, specialties and refinements, but it is very easily understood, and all its ramifications are easily traced if the simple fundamental principle is seen and borne clearly in mind.

All our problems now are those of distribution: for our problems in production are solved—that is, in a major sense, through the steam or gas engine, the dynamo and the automatic machine.

And the economies of the individual business that supplies our wants is pretty well understood through its bookkeeping and in terms of simple arithmetic.

It occurs to us that the perfection of our distribution problems is going to require the same quality of brains and the same processes of cause and effect thinking that have been applied to the solution of our production problems.

It also appears that the problem of the high and increased cost of living is one for the factory cost finder and the expert accountant, applying to the inter-relation of business and the community the same simple process of accounting that is applied in the well ordered individual business.

We have been feeling about our problems, getting angry about them, rather than thinking about them.

But when we apply plain bookkeeping methods and arithmetic in tracing every charge from its source to its termination, we will find just who is getting without giving and who is giving without getting.

LEGAL POINT RAISED

A legal question has been raised in regard to the validity of woman suffrage, in certain states whose legislatures have passed a law giving women the ballot regardless of a constitutional provision that only male adults shall have the franchise. These states are North Dakota, Indiana, Minnesota and Wisconsin. It is distinctly provided in their respective constitutions that a change or an amendment can be made only by a vote of the people at a general election.

It is rather strange that the legislatures should ignore these provisions in the vote for woman suffrage. In one state where the legality of women voting has been submitted to the supreme court, an adverse decision has been handed down.

This state of affairs is liable to bring about serious complications in the next presidential election if not remedied during the present year.

BUILDING PROJECTS

The season is advancing and very few of our building projects seem to have been taken up with the prospect of rapid progress.

The legislature has passed the bill providing for a commission to take charge of the high school problem and it awaits the governor's signature to make it law. The bill for the Lowell auditorium has also become law. That is another important matter to which Mayor Thompson must give his immediate attention. The appointment of both these commissions will require the exercise of sound judgment and great care in order to secure the service of the very best men to be found in the city.

One of the most severe blows aimed at government ownership of public utilities in quite some time, would seem to be contained in the announcement made by C. H. Mackay of the Postal Telegraph, that if the government would turn back the Postal to its owners he would produce a 20 per cent reduction in telegraph charges. Any one who has had recent occasion to send a wire message will appreciate what even a 20 per cent reduction would mean to the general public.

More than 3000 Girl Scouts marched in a huge and impressive parade before Baden-Powell, the head of the British Boy Scouts organization, in Boston last Saturday, and no report has been made that the parade was halted while any contingent stopped to see millinery bargains in Tremont street stores—which argues well for the discipline of the girls' scouts.

Mother's day was not as bright as it should have been as a day set apart for the purpose, to honor and be good to one's mother—but might serve as a reminder for all the rest of the year that nothing you do for mother will ever, ever be regretted. And too many times we accept her labors and sacrifices as "something going with her job."

THE MAN ABOUT TOWN

Secretary Philip J. Breen of the local branch, Knights of Columbus, handed the writer a copy of the Rochester, N. Y., Post Express the other day, calling attention to a lengthy article dealing with a tour of the country made by Supreme Knight James A. Flaherty and his opposition to all forms of Bolshevism.

The article in part was as follows: James A. Flaherty, supreme knight of the Knights of Columbus, has been touring the country on a visit to the K. of C. state jurisdictions. He comes back with news of almost universal sentiment in favor of getting business started on stable paths. And he comes, too, with promise of a nation-wide stand by his organization against anarchic councils, against Bolshevism in an act and word. Mr. Flaherty has no doubt about the soundness of our people's sense. But he does think that the good people who can be counted on to think right and act as they think ought to be roused to the need of their co-operation.

Mr. Flaherty is wise in making distinctions. He says: "Now the K. of C., through its 1800 and more councils throughout the country, is an agency for constructively combating any new forces of disruption that may arise. With whatever healthy dissatisfaction may crop up in labor circles, the K. of C. has no more or less interest than any other body of American citizens who stand for a square deal all around. But the society to a man is opposed to the import and practice of foreign anarchistic doctrines and will fight them with all the power at its command."

These are heartening words. There are a host of good men in the K. of C. and "opposed to a man" to forces of disruption they will be a great bulwark for safety. Moreover Mr. Flaherty says the right thing when he calls attention to the distinction between our home settlements of industrial disputes; these are all in the family and we shall settle them satisfactorily if we keep them in the family. This constructive proclamation made in fear-fest fashion is an example other great societies might well follow and quickly. We want our full strength for law and order in militant mood; we want alert scouts in action; fearless spokesmen like Mr. Flaherty. We have no need to fear Bolshevism in the open. It is dangerous latent and unopposed; particularly is it dangerous unnoticed.

The name of Col. John P. J. Herbert of Worcester rings rather familiarly in my ears as I read of his exploits at the St. Louis American Legion convention, at which he publicly pilloried and indicted the city of Chicago for having returned the notorious pro-Gorman, Thompson, to the office of mayor. I am afraid most Massachusetts people think of Col. Herbert as one of the state's most capable and noted military men, drawn from the ranks of the national guard to win glory fighting for democracy in France. Worcester newspapermen instinctively recognize him as not only absolutely one of the most capable newspaper executives that famous home of good newspapermen has ever produced, but more uniquely he is called one of the best managing editors under whom to work, that was ever known there.

Col. Herbert, "Jack," as he was known to his men, was for some time managing editor of the Worcester Evening Post. He was responsible for that paper's new lease of life and remarkable regeneration. The head of the copy desk of a big city paper like that is usually regarded as an important position. Having worked under him, I can testify to his patience and good nature. My Worcester friends tell me he will be Worcester's next mayor beyond peradventure and a little later they promise, governor of the commonwealth. To which success I can personally promise him at least one Lowell vote.

SEEN AND HEARD

Forming second hand opinions is the source of prejudice and unjustified hatred.

No one has any idea that it will be impossible to get a lawyer for William Hohenzollern, formerly of the firm of "Meinself and Gott," when the case of Kaiser vs. Civilization comes to trial.

The government has just bought for 20 cents two acres of land near Columbus, Ga. And the owner's name—D. L. Skinner! Ah-so-lute-ly, you cannot go much on a name.

Mrs. Eva Ruppert of Bloomsburg, Pa., has an Easter egg dated 1829. It is in an excellent state of preservation and we rise to remark that the one we had for breakfast must have been laid about the same time.

Got the Zoo's Goat

You have heard what happens when the irresistible force meets the immovable body. Then you have some fairly adequate mental picture of that Oklahoma City zoo collision when goat and buffalo met head-first. The zoo is advertising for a new goat, and the buffalo hopes nobody will answer the ad.

Ruddy Cheeks—Sparkling Eyes—Most Women Can Have

Says Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known Ohio Physician

Dr. F. M. Edwards for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. You will know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women as well as men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the successful substitute for calomel—now and then just to keep in the pink of condition. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

From Mrs. Kilmer's Poems

The poems of Alline Kilmer, collected in book form and published, are charming tributes to her hero-poet husband, Joyce Kilmer, who was killed in action last July at the Ourcq. "Candles That Burn" is the title of these poems brought together. They radiate the unfeigned loveliness of mood and the human affection and devotion that had been consummated between these congenial souls. A critic of the Boston Transcript reads between the lines the shadow of the great personal loss which came to the author in the giving up of her husband at his country's call, and the touching resignation when the temporary giving up passed into the realization that he had rendered the last full measure of devotion. But in all this overflowing of deep spirit at the hard imposition of fate, there is no bitterness of protest, no complaint that weakens and shames the dignity of sacrifice; but every utterance is full of a noble and heroic submission to the ways of God.

No utterance can more vividly project the character of soul in giving to one's country one's dearest possession than this woman shows in this verse, "High Heart":

"The sea that I watch from my window
Is gray and white;
I see it lose in the darkness
All the night.
My soul swoops down to sorrow
As the sea-sulls do,
And all my love flies after
Your lonely ship."

Yet I am not despairing
Though we must part,
Nothing can be too bitter
For my high heart.
All is for the glory of my night.
Watching the flying foam,
I wait for the golden morning
When you come home."

And again she cries, holding on to courage with heroic hands: "I shall not be afraid."
"I shall not be afraid any more,
Either by night or day;
What would it profit me to be afraid
With you away?"

Now I am brave. In the dark night
Alone
All through the house I go,
Locking the doors and making windows
Fast when sharp winds blow.

For there is only sorrow in my heart;
There is no room for fear.
But how I wish I were afraid again.
My dear, my dear!"

AMUSEMENT NOTES

Below is what the press agents of the different theatres say of the current attractions and of others to come.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

Billy Reeves will be at the B. F. Keith theatre today, and he will remain during the week playing "The Right Key But the Wrong Flat," an extraordinarily funny comedy written for him by Claude and Gordon Ross for his play, "The Right Key But the Wrong Flat." Some years ago he appeared in "Karnegie's A Night in an English Music Hall," so successful was the production that in many cities of the country there was a demand for repeat performances. Up to that time there had been but few acts of that kind on the American stage. Billy Reeves set the fashion. His specialty was a very funny drunk who always entered or left his box at the most inopportune time, nearly wrecking the performance. Lorenz Ziegfeld saw him once, and he wrote a part for him in his follies. In this Reeves was no less successful. When the show was in full bloom Reeves also in full bloom entered the theatre and proceeded to the stage with a bouquet of flowers intended for one of the dancers. It all wound up with him falling into a tank of water. Still later motion pictures claimed him and now he is back to the vaudeville sketch, with 20 minutes of continuous laughter. Reeves is really a very funny man, with a style of entertainment quite his own.

Hand Brown, who does a lot of funny things and does them in a distinctive way, will hop into second place on the bill. Brown has never appeared here before, but he has been rated in New York as a surefire winner with his funny stuff. Joe Towle is another entertainer of originality. Joe's great stunt consists of his very cleverly arranged burlesque on the things we all see in the theatre—he even travesties himself. He has been something since a thoroughly serious sketch has been produced locally. In "Our Family," with Jane Courthorne in the principal part, there will be presented a tense

This is "farewell" work at the Lowell Opera House. The popular Emerson All Star Players and Manager P. James Carroll will conclude their highly successful stock season on Saturday night next, and the "good-bye" production will be the great novelty comedy drama, "Another Man's Shoes," which will be produced for the first time in stock. The play is an exceptionally offering, not alone because it comes directly from Broadway, New York, but because it tells a story that is so unusual, and in a way that is highly entertaining. You will see all of your favorites in their best roles. A reception to Miss Alice Glenister will be held this afternoon, and on Tuesday to Miss Ferris on Wednesday to Miss Girard-Huntington and on Thursday to Miss Jane Salisbury. Saturday night will be "good-bye" night and the "farewell" concert. Tuesday night, the usual matinee performance will be given. The management wishes also to call attention to the fact that our program contains no releases and no program pictures, and they are shown here as first releases.

THIS STRAND

A superior program at a superior theatre, under superior management, at the lowest possible prices, summarizes just what patrons receive for their money at the Strand. Take the bill to be given the first three days of the week as an example, and judge for yourself. Sessue Hayakawa, the Japanese star in "A Heart in Pawn," said to be among his best screen effects, and "Ginger," the latest World picture offering, are to be featured. Both are excellent photoplays and will merit the many good things that will be said of them. A two-part Vitaphone comedy and one of the most recent Universal Weekly series, as well as musical numbers by Edna Ray, will help round out a bill of excellence.

Patrons are reminded of the fact that this theatre will be given over to the Choral society concert Tuesday night. The usual matinee performance will be given. The management wishes also to call attention to the fact that our program contains no releases and no program pictures, and they are shown here as first releases.

Ireland's right to self-determination is admitted by all nations throughout the world. Her sons have fought nobly to perpetuate these principles and make them sacred to all people. Why should they be denied Ireland alone?

To offset insidious and unjust propaganda against her rightful claims and to provide the means whereby recognition of these claims may be obtained WILL REQUIRE UNLIMITED FUNDS.

IRELAND WANTS SELF-DETERMINATION and wants it without bloodshed. A strong and sympathetic public opinion will secure it and will force justice for this long oppressed country. BUT WE NEED THE RAIN JUST THE SAME

The cold, disagreeable rain-storm of Saturday, yesterday and today, constitutes the eighth depressing week-end in the last nine weeks if the weather bureau is to be believed. Propelled by a wintry blast from the northeast the rain sifted down pretty much all of the time and accumulated a total rainfall of 1.021 inches. It seemed like two or three feet to the persons who had to be out in it and seriously impaired the Saturday business of the town. If such a storm had come two or three weeks ago, it would have ruined budding crops and trees but the buds have become so well formed now as to withstand a temperature as low as that which accompanied the rain.

city of labor. He saw American soldiers everywhere in practically every city and town in France, and warmly praises the present American army system of granting generous leaves to soldiers that they may have opportunities to see the many interesting and educational sights of the country and come home immeasurably broadened. Mr. Prince sailed from New York on the Aquitania, March 6. The trip across was very comfortable, although the huge ship had been dismantled for the accommodation of troops. On arriving in England he went directly to London. He found the food restrictions still in drastic force, with no sugar or butter to be had, and with the meat supply still under government control. Business conditions were most unstable. Large business was not at all ready to even consider export activities and in addition to the scarcity of raw materials, the labor situation was most serious. One of the most perplexing problems in connection with labor as viewed by the business men of London is the fact that at least 100,000 returned British soldiers are drawing soldiers' unemployment "dole" from the government and show no inclination to go back into industry. Mr. Prince feels that when business does begin to readjust itself wage scales will be much higher than before the war, and rise to a level nearly parallel with those in the United States. While in London Mr. Prince was privileged to attend a dinner given to Admiral Sims at the Savoy just prior to the latter's departure for America, and also attended a luncheon given at the Savoy for Ambassador Davis. He was in London at the time of the first large parade of returned soldiers, the one in which marched 8000 men of the famous guard regiments including the young Prince of Wales. The parade was reviewed by the king and the 8000 men in line represented the survivors of 40,000 men who fought in these guard regiments during four years of the war. The regiment first went out in 1914 with 6900 men and was repeatedly cut to pieces and continuously refreshed with replacement troops to the number of 40,000. Some of the men in line had served throughout the war and wore the red brassard designating participation in the battle of Mons, which was in the earliest days of the war. Mr. Prince says English people are not complaining over the chaotic conditions in the country, but are keeping a stiff upper lip as they have throughout the war. He found that conditions in England during the days of strife were much worse than the world realized and for months and months the country was on the verge of starvation. This showed particularly in the health of children who were unable to get sufficient nourishment. In addition to a most thorough and necessarily slow passport system, which took up practically one-third of a traveler's time, Mr. Prince says that persons coming into English cities and towns are still under police surveillance, and arrivals and departures must be reported at police headquarters in person. One instance of the transportation regulations is shown by the fact that in passing from England to France over the channel, passports have to be viced by English, American and French officers. United States consulate officers show American travelers every consideration, said Mr. Prince.

After three weeks in England, Mr. Prince went to France. He visited many of the battlefronts, going to Chateau-Thierry, Belleau Wood and Rheims among many other places. He passed through at least 25 French towns in which not one stone was left standing upon another. The northern part of France is practically desolate. In Rheims there are living not more than 300 persons out of a pre-war population of about 150,000. There were in 1914 about 30,000 dwelling houses in Rheims and now scarcely 20 are habitable with about 30 more which may be repaired to make them so. The famous cathedral is damaged extensively, but not so much as visitors had been led to believe. Many parts of the cathedral, of course, are mutilated beyond repair, or at least replacement, but at first glance the building does not show excessive signs of four years of almost continuous bombardment. The front of the church seems to have suffered more from fire than from shells.

Paris is filled with American soldiers on leave and Mr. Prince has exceeding praise for the leave system now in vogue in the A.E.F. American boys are being given opportunities for travel and education and moreover many have taken advantage of the offer to attend French and English universities, and of the educational courses being operated by the Y.M.C.A. Mr. Prince says he went abroad rather a severe critic of the Y.M.C.A. regarding its war work but has come back well convinced that although the "Y" fell short in many of its plans and operations, it, nevertheless, was at least 75 per cent efficient and did untold good. All of the Y.M.C.A. secretaries he saw were earnest men and on the job to give service. The association is doing a wonderful work in Paris today, he said, operating hotels and theatres in Paris and conducting many number of free sight-seeing tours for soldiers on leave. Mr. Prince spoke of visiting one large mobilization area for United States troops on their way to embarkation points—and home, and said that in this huge system of camps, covering a territory 30 by 90 miles in scope, the Y.M.C.A. had more than 500 secretaries and nightly operated 40 free theatres.

Business conditions in France are even worse than in England in the opinion of Mr. Prince. There is no raw material available and labor is acutely scarce. High prices are found all over the country, being almost exorbitant. In fact, and gasoline in Paris is now $1.25 a gallon. Motor cars for hire are to be had only in remote instances and there is practically no taxi-cab system. In Paris Mr. Prince saw one of the most striking things of his entire country—thousands of captured German cannon of every known size and shape, which are placed only 10 feet apart all along the Champs Elysees and place de la Concorde. Mr. Prince returned to this country on the Mauretania, which carried 3000 Canadian soldiers and dropped them at Halifax. He landed at New York Saturday night.

SUN'S STORY SAVED THIS DOG'S LIFE
Saturday afternoon a handsome, buff-colored thoroughbred dog stood and lay in the shadow of death at the police station. He hadn't done anything wrong, but he had been brought to the station by Special Officer Gilmore of the Humane Society after being struck and slightly injured by an automobile. And there was no name on his collar.

Now the way of a dog with no name on his collar who lands at the police station usually has but one ending, and that is by way of the gas box route. But this particular dog escaped the gas box, for Mr. Gilmore, having read in The Sun that his dog was in dire peril, hurried to the station Saturday evening and claimed his property.

All stories have a moral, and this one is that it pays to advertise. If you want to reach the people who spend their money in Lowell advertise in The Sun, Lowell's greatest newspaper.

WARNED TO WATCH OUT FOR IMPOSTOR

Druggists, look out. So says Supl. Welch.

In this case the chief wishes to warn the local pill-rollers to keep their eyes open for a man, 34 years old, about 5 feet, 8 inches in height.

He is reported to be working eastward, and is as clever as they make 'em. His particular specialty is to apply for work at a drug store and after working for about three days, tap the till, safe or strong box as the case may be, and make a quick exit to the next city on his route.

Then again he may wish to become an active partner in the business, and invest some capital in the firm. He recently offered a druggist in Duluth, Minn., two stolen Liberty bonds in exchange for a small interest in the business, and departed three days afterward with $300 in cash and other valuables.

Sometimes he poses as a discharged lieutenant in the medical overseas corps. This is not hard for him to accomplish as he has in his possession a doctor's practicing license and certificate which he appropriated from a physician during his travels.

And so the chief says, "Watch out."

TREATY WITH AUSTRIA READY

PARIS, May 12.—The peace treaty with Austria is nearing completion and an official summary of it is being prepared, as was done in the case of the German treaty.

Although it is not so stated in the treaty, the new Austrian frontier is the one designated by the secret treaty of London, giving Italy all the strategic heights and defensive passages.

French officials are embarrassed by a demand that direct telephone and telegraph communication be accorded the Austrian peace delegation during the negotiations, just as it is now accorded the Germans. The Germans are using the only wires available and it is not believed they will give up any of their facilities to their former allies.

Owing to the restrictions of the shipping authorities in the matter of overseas travel at the present time, Sergt. John J. Upon his return here his plans were again changed owing to the fact that his trip was for no other purpose than pleasure and the authorities will not give passports for this until shipping conditions are restored to normal.

Seborrhea Kills the Hair Famo Kills Seborrhea

Seborrhea is an old trouble to which scientists have given a new name. And science has found in Famo a new way of overcoming it. Seborrhea is the disease which kills the roots of the hair by means of the deadly dandruff bacilli.

It does to the hair what pyorrhea does to the teeth. Famo is a formula worked out in one of the great pharmaceutical houses of Detroit. Three years were required to develop Famo.

It proved its efficacy before it was offered to the public. The way in which Famo does its work is almost unbelievable.

Transformation is Wonderful

Almost at once your eyes testify to the transformation. New hair grows like the hair of healthy children.

The scalp becomes like the scalp of a baby. All itching of the scalp is stopped.

Famo brings back the look of health by a softness and lustre beyond words to describe.

Famo Destroys Bacilli

Famo removes the obstacle to growth, when it kills the seborrhea (dandruff) bacilli. Freed from the bondage of disease, the hair leaps into luxuriance.

In women the change is wonderful. If their hair was normally beautiful, the beauty is intensified.

Famo Contains No Alcohol

The natural color is enhanced and grayness is retarded. Famo contains no alcohol. Alcohol, if used persistently, is harmful to the hair, as it dries the scalp.

Famo comes in two sizes—a small size for 33 cents and an extra-large size at $1. Your money back if it doesn't satisfy.

Every member of the family should use it. Famo is sold at all toilet goods counters. Applications may be had at the better barber shops.

Seborrhea is the medical name for a morbidly increased flow from the sebaceous glands of the scalp. The seborrhea secretion forms in scales or flakes and is commonly known as dandruff.

LOWELL SCORES AN EASY WIN, 12 TO 0

In a game which went only six and a half innings because of the cold and intermittent rain at Spalding park Saturday afternoon, Lowell high smothered Nashua high 12 to 0. It was too cold for baseball, but Coach Donahue's mud hens didn't seem to mind the chilling blasts from Wamegan way and took on their task every minute (taking advantage of the visiting team's misplays). Lowell kicked in with only five hits, and could do nothing with the pitching of Rock, who followed the elongated Burnham to the slab, but the latter was pretty well cut up in the three innings he worked. He must have most of the blame for Nashua's rout, in addition to being touched for his five times he gave three bases balls, hit two batters, made two wild pitches and pulled one balk. Some diversified record, we'll say.

For Lowell, Anastos pitched strong, heady ball. He had fine speed, a receiving change of pace and allowed only two hits. He gave but one free pass to first and ninth base. He started on her wild career in the second inning when three hits, two of which didn't go past second base, a hit batsman sacrifice and a base on balls accounted for seven runs. Not satisfied, Coach Donahue sent his boys right back in the next inning to get five more counts and these came to be through two hits, two bases on balls, three errors, a wild pitch and three stolen bases. 'Twas enough.

It would be unfair to say that Nashua even threatened to score a run in any one of the six frames. The visitors' first hit, a two-bagger, came in the 11th inning, but the runner was left on third. Rock singled with one down in the fifth, but was cut down at short.

Ray Reynolds contributed the fielding feature of the game when he took a hard line drive over second base with one hand, while on the run, and doubled a runner at first. The Lowell infield looked fine and the four boys took care of 19 chances without an error. The score:

birth in the N.E.L. this year and while in the city on Saturday will his Nashua high school team looked up one or two of the local semi-pros, particularly "Bing" Falls, who is slated to pitch for the Graniteville team this season.

Clarence Parker, coach of the Brookline high school team, and with Lowell in the N.E.L., a few seasons ago, has been offered the manager-ship of the Fitchburg team in the league this year. While he has not fully decided to accept this offer, he has already accepted the position of scout for both the Haverhill and Fitchburg teams of the new circuit.

Heine Wagner, former player and coach of the Red Sox, and Secretary of the Lowell club, of which Bill Carrigan is one of the backers, were at Fenway Park in Boston last week looking for ball players. Manager Barrow will not let out any of his squad but he tipped off the visitors to several promising youngsters who have been working out at Fenway every morning. Among the kids recommended were Murphy, Cotter, Zubin, Yonkman and Atwater, pitchers; Fox, catcher, and Drolette, an outfielder.

"Hot" Eller, Cincinnati pitcher, has the initial honor of stepping into the no-hit-no-run class this year. He held St. Louis helpless yesterday and allowed only three Cardinals to reach first base.

The New England league has been admitted to Class B rating in the National Baseball Association, according to a statement given out yesterday by Chairman John H. Farrell. At the same time came the announcement that the Eastern association had been advanced from Class B to Class A. This league includes Worcester, Springfield, New Haven, Bridgeport, Waterbury, Hartford, Pittsfield and Providence.

This Speaker fanned for the first time this year yesterday, when his team was badly beaten by Chicago, 10 to 2. Also it was the first defeat sustained by Pitcher Uhle, a kid picked up from the sand lots by Cleveland.

Washington and Yankees Battle Without Scoring

NEW YORK, May 12.—New York and Washington played a 12-inning no-score tie here yesterday which was called at 6 o'clock in compliance with the new Sunday amusement law which forbids play after that hour. It was the first American league contest here under the new ordinance.

Johnson and Quinn had a great pitchers' battle, the former permitting only three of the locals to reach base. From the time that Rockingham singled in the first inning, Johnson walked in the first, second and third, and retired 23 batters in order. Quinn was hit much harder but was strong in the places. It being Uhle's first defeat in three starts, Williams was very effective holding Cleveland scoreless until the ninth, when three doubles produced two runs. Speaker fanned for the first time this season. Cleveland will play two postponed games at Tuesday instead of remaining here to play off a postponed game with Chicago. The score:

FORFEITS POSTED FOR COMING BOUT

With forfeits posted and messages of assurance from the managers of Al Shubert of New Bedford and Louisiana, the southern sensation on hand, Matchmaker Fred Moore of the Crescent City Athletic Club has brought men will positively appear on next Thursday night. They are scheduled to box 12 rounds to a decision. Shubert, a former champion, has been a six round number at Philadelphia and the newspapers gave the southerner the award. Ever since that time the "Warrior" has been anxious to get a return engagement with "Lou," but up until the local matchmaker opened negotiations, he never had a chance to try and beat that rover. He is elated at the opportunity afforded him, and avers that he will come out on top. Louisiana says he will repeat and feels confident that he will make a much better showing than he did against Boyle, who had both weight and reach advantages over him. Young Brown of Lawrence, Mass., has before him to his credit, will meet Phil Christy of Boston in the semi-final of eight rounds. There will be two other bouts of six rounds each.

NEW INNOVATION IN BOWLING SERIES

An innovation in bowling tournaments and on a monster scale never attempted before, is being inaugurated in New York city, namely, a big duckpin tournament to which all the bowlers of New York and vicinity are invited. New Jersey, Delaware, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Ohio, Virginia and West Virginia are invited to participate. This idea was conceived by Joseph Thum, dean of the bowling fraternity, to whom more than any one other man in this country the bowling sport owes its success. Recently he had to undergo an operation for mastoiditis, and while convalescing in the hospital, his bowling sport, took over nearly his entire thoughts and he there worked out the details of this monster duckpin championship tournament. There will be three events, two men teams, two men teams and individual bowling. Out-of-town teams may bowl all three events in one day. During the season of the tournament there are thousands of bowlers from out of town visiting New York, and they can combine their sightseeing with or without a bowling contest. The entry fee is $2.00 per man for each event and all prizes will be in cash. Already

ALL STAR SHOW AT TRIANGLE A. C.

An all-star show with three ten-round bouts and one six-round event will be run by the Triangle A. C. at the Playhouse on next Friday evening. Matchmaker Mahan, like all others engaged in this work, is having his troubles in bringing men together. He had the Avilla-Nearney bout "all booked" as it were, but the weight question popped up with the result that the match was called off. Against Frankie Walsh and Frankie Brogan were announced, but for the second time Lawrence against Eddie Bert was cancelled. He has finally succeeded in signing up Teddy Murphy to meet the Lowell brawler in one of the ten round events and this bout is announced as for the N. E. hantamweight title. The other ten rounders will have Buddie Brown of Lawrence against Eddie Bert, cell of Quincy and Tommy Doyle of Lowell against Kid Lee of Chelsea. Battling Tony and Joe Clark will meet in a six-round proim.

AMATEUR BASEBALL

The Lawrence Mfg. Co. has formed a four-team baseball league, one team representing each of the four mill departments, as follows: Yarn, Underwear, Hose and Mechanical, and officers have been chosen to supervise the schedule and run the organization. Along strict league lines, the first game was played Saturday, when Yarn defeated Mechanical nine, 7 to 0, on the company's playstead, in Allen street. Very shortly the league will start on a schedule of twilight games to be played between 6 and 8 p. m., and soon after a team will be picked from the players of the four-league teams to constitute a company team, organized for the purpose of playing any of the strongest amateur aggregations in the state. The officers of the league are: President, Victor Sherburne; vice president, Thomas Senior; secretary, Louis Sever; treasurer, Frank Green; directors, one from each department, Guy C. Hunt, Joseph Lacombe, Fred Swindells and Frank Green.

The White Eagles defeated the Edson club, 9 to 8 in 11 innings Saturday afternoon. The winners would like a game with the St. Columba's team.

The Pawtucket Stars won a double-header Saturday, defeating the Athletics, 15 to 7, and the Burnside Juniors, 21 to 10. The Stars challenge any 11 or 13-year-old team in the city.

The F.A.S.C. took an abbreviated contest from the B. & M. car shop on Saturday, 7 to 1. Prescott's pitching was a feature.

The St. Peter's A. A. wants games with any of the fast teams in the city or suburbs and has open dates on May 17 and May 24. Answer through this paper.

The Federals added another victory to their string Saturday when they defeated the Unity A. C., 10 to 9.

MAHONEY LEADS HIGH SCHOOL BATTERS

With the complete score of the Nashua high game of April 26 missing, a tabulation of the other five games played this season by the local high school batters is as follows: 300 and better than 300—Borash, who played in but one game, and Mahoney and Brennan, regulars. Mahoney is the best leader with an average of .305 and Brosnan is close up with .301. The averages follow: Borash .305, Mahoney .305, Brosnan .304, Condon .250, Reynolds .238, Cahill .235, O'Brien .200, Gleason .200, Anastos .200, Birkenhead .182, Mansur .166, Ordway .166, Lawler .157.

Mahoney leads in runs scored with six, and Cahill and Mahoney are tied for stolen bases with five each. Only two hits for extra bases are registered, Reynolds having a double to his credit and Ordway a triple. Birkenhead hit a double in the missing Nashua game besides two singles, which would raise his average if the score were available.

The local team plays Lawrence in Lawrence on Wednesday of this week and one of the hardest games of the season is anticipated. Ordway will probably pitch.

MANSUR WINS HIGH JUMP AT AMHERST

Warren Mansur, Lowell high school, won the high jump at the open track and field meet held on Saturday at the Massachusetts Agricultural college at Amherst. He had but little competition and took first place with a leap of five feet. One hundred and sixty-eight representatives of 40 high schools from all parts of the state and Connecticut were in Amherst for the day as guests of the college. They were entertained by fraternities, at a banquet and by the musical clubs.

PARIS, May 12.—Ten teams from the American Expeditionary Forces will participate in a relay race from Chateau-Thierry to Paris on Memorial day. Each team will be composed of 20 men, each man to run five kilometers, or a little more than three miles. The course will be from a point near Chateau-Thierry, where the Americans first met the Germans last Memorial day, over the Paris road to the Place de la Concorde, in the centre of Paris. George W. Anderson, a federal judge of Boston, will speak on the affirmative side of the question and the board of trade is now looking for a qualified opponent.

Campaign For Ireland Opens

In Associate hall which gave the drive a fine send-off and netted $1500 from 15 subscribers who pledged $100 apiece.

The local campaign is part of a nation-wide drive to secure funds to present Ireland's claims for self-determination to the proper authorities as well as to the general public. The campaign ends a week from today, May 19.

Headquarters for the campaign have been established at Room 11 of the Associate building and all information pertaining to the drive may be obtained there. The telephone number is 1300.

Nine teams of solicitors will canvass the city thoroughly during the week with authorized credentials and receipt cards. Those who wish to subscribe to the campaign are asked to send their subscriptions voluntarily to Thomas J. Fitzgerald, campaign treasurer, at 465 Merrimack street, and thus save the time and efforts of the solicitors.

The executive committee in charge of the drive is as follows: John J. Gilbride, James O'Sullivan, Edward H. Foye, John H. Murphy, Michael Corbett, Dr. James B. O'Connor, William Crowley, Gen. Gardner W. Pearson, James E. Mikella, Joseph Donohoe, Charles L. Marren, Frank P. McGilly, Henry L. Bourke, Hon. James B. Casey, Hon. Charles S. Lilley, Daniel J. Murphy, John P. Mahoney, Andrew Mulloy, Redmond Welch, John Brady, Hon. James E. O'Donnell, Michael J. Sharkey, Hon. Dennis J. Murphy, John F. Meehan, Mr. John Donehue, Humphrey O'Sullivan, Patrick O'Hearn, George M. Harrigan, John H. Harrington, James E. Donnelly, Patrick Cogger, John F. Kinsella, John J. O'Connell, Fred H. Bourke, Robert R. Thomas, Daniel T. Sullivan, Edward Cawley, Representative Thomas J. Corbett, Anthony Conway and Daniel Cosgrove.

Last Evening's Meeting

The formal opening of the campaign took place last evening in Associate hall before an audience that filled every seat in the ample auditorium despite the disquieting and discomforting weather. The speaker of the evening was Judge J. M. Wall, of Southbrook, N. J., a trained journalist, a co-worker of Charles Stewart Parnell, and a constant fighter for Irish freedom. His address last evening was a logical exposition of the status of Ireland today and her hopes for tomorrow. He maintained that the Irish question was no more puzzling than any other question of right and wrong. The people of Ireland have only recently expressed their desire for self-determination in a most emphatic manner, he said, and the argument that pro-English Irishmen predominate the province of Ulster is a fallacy, as he showed by facts and figures.

Judge Wall interspersed the serious phases of his address with lighter narration of pertinent nature and he proved a very forceful, logical and entertaining speaker.

The audience represented all sections of the city and listened eagerly to every remark of Judge Wall. Time and time again it showed its enthusiasm for the subject of his discussion and his witty comment either by vigorous applause or ripples of laughter.

The meeting opened shortly after 8 o'clock and on the platform were Mayor Perry D. Thompson, Rt. Rev. Mgr. O'Brien, members of the executive committee in charge of the drive, Humphrey O'Sullivan, Thomas J. Fitzgerald, Hon. James B. Casey and others.

Mr. Fitzgerald opened the meeting and thanked those present for their display of co-operation in coming to the meeting despite the unfavorable weather. He expressed confidence that the Irish drive would go beyond the quota of $10,000 before the end of the week. Earnest effort on the part of all would bring it about, he said.

Cards were then distributed for those who wished to subscribe to the fund, to be turned in later. Humphrey O'Sullivan was introduced as the presiding officer of the evening and was cordially received.

He said that the meeting was prompted by a recent meeting of the friends of Ireland in Philadelphia when it was decided that funds would have to be raised to counteract English propaganda in this country. Lowell was assigned $10,000 of Massachusetts' quota of $150,000. He believed that this city would raise her share in a few days. Every section of the city will be covered by solicitors, he said.

In introducing Judge Wall, the speaker of the evening, Mr. O'Sullivan referred to him as a man who had received the praises of Cardinal O'Connell for his work in behalf of Ireland.

Judge J. M. Wall

In opening, the speaker said that the words of President Wilson were stating the Irish case as clearly as any that had ever been uttered and were doing much for the cause. He summed up the situation as it is today by saying that Ireland wants England to clear from her shores and give her the right of self-government.

Much time was given by the speaker to the Ulster question, which he said seemed to be the barrier between Ireland and freedom in the minds of English diplomats, at least. He had a fund of figures at his command to prove that Ulster was preponderantly pro-Irish. He maintained that Irish self-government could be no worse than the government now in sway, but he recalled the success of Grattan's parliament to refute the lie that the Irish cannot govern themselves.

He said that it wasn't being insisted that Ireland be governed by Ireland, but rather that it be governed by a government sanctioned by the people. The present English government, he assured his speakers, is not thus sanctioned.

"We are grateful to President Wilson," he said, "for the term 'self-determination.' It is the watchword of the day."

The speaker then went into detail on the Ulster question. Only a part of Ulster is opposed to self-determination for Ireland, he said, only the northeast corner of the province, which is pro-English. He characterized the claim that Ulster was a unit against Irish freedom as "fantastic." With the exception of the Protestant majority in the city of Belfast, Ulster is evenly divided between Catholics and Protestants. All the Catholics are for Ireland's freedom, but not all Protestants are for England. That is a pertinent fact in connection with the Ulster question which must be remembered, he maintained.

In two of Ulster's counties there is

is 67 per cent. A little mathematical English population. These two counties go to make up only a fourth of all Ulster. In the other three-fourths of the section, comprising seven counties, the pro-Irish population is 67 per cent. A little mathematical reasoning will prove the absurdity of the claim that Ulster is not pro-Irish, he said.

In closing, Judge Wall said that the people who were opposing Irish freedom were being misled and duped. He hoped for the day when they would see the situation with clearer vision and the inspired words of old Ireland's poets in which they pictured her freedom would be matters of reality. He closed his address with an excerpt from a poem by Thomas Davis, appealing for the union of orange and green. Resolutions were adopted endorsing the Irish republic and appealing for Ireland's right to self-determination.

In the course of the evening entertainment was furnished by Commissioner James E. Donnelly, Miss Laureen Quinn and Miss Frances Goggin. Miss Margaret Goggin and Mrs. Alice McLaughlin accompanied.

It was announced that each of the following named had given $100 with which to start off the drive: Monsignor William O'Brien, Rev. Daniel J. Kehrer, Ph. D., John F. Meehan, Fred H. Bourke, Henry L. Bourke, Humphrey O'Sullivan, John J. Brady, Patrick O'Hearn, Mrs. John F. Sain-der, Daniel T. Sullivan, Hon. John J. Hogan, John J. O'Connell, James O'Sullivan, Patrick Cogger and Michael J. Sharkey.

"THE CAVELL CASE"

THE FIRST appearance of JULIA ARTHUR in ANY picture. It needed a strong, purposeful play of this kind to appeal to Miss Arthur, and she certainly portrays her part well—as many will testify. It's worth repeating, so we are giving Lowell another chance to see this powerful, masterly photoplay of truthful events.

Congressman Rogers Issues
Statement of Interest to
Discharged Service Men

Any Lowell soldier, sailor or member of the marine corps who has been discharged from the service and who has received travel pay or mileage to bring him home from the place of his discharge at the rate of three and a half cents per mile, has the right to ask the government for an additional cent and a half in view of the act passed by congress on Feb. 23, according to a statement by Congressman John Jacob Rogers today.

From Nov. 11 until within a short time ago discharged men have been receiving only three and a half cents per mile. There was some doubt as to how the new act should be interpreted and as a result the war department continued to pay at the old rate.

Now, however, discharged men are entitled to recoup to the extent of a cent and a half a mile by applying at the office of Congressman Rogers in the Hildreth building where he will be supplied by an application blank and a circular giving information on the matter.

The statement issued by Congressman Rogers today is as follows:

"The act of Feb. 28, 1919, provided that enlisted men honorably discharged from the army, navy or marine corps since Nov. 11th last, the date of the armistice, should receive travel pay at the rate of five cents per mile from the place of discharge to the place of original muster into the service. The war department originally had some doubts as to the proper in-

ASSISTING SOLDIERS AND SAILORS HERE

Congressman John Jacob Rogers is endeavoring to assist Lowell soldiers and sailors in every way possible to clean up their various relations with the government in the few remaining days that he will spend in Lowell before he leaves for Washington next week prior to the convening of congress on May 19.

The congressman has handled a large number of allotment cases for Lowell men and their relatives and another matter to which he is giving his attention is the procuring of naturalization certificates for men who were naturalized while in the national service.

As is generally known, thousands of men became naturalized while in the army or navy. Although this was not obligatory, every opportunity was given men in the service to become naturalized and many Lowell men of foreign birth took the opportunity.

When a man was naturalized while in the service his certificate of naturalization was retained for safe-keeping by the bureau of naturalization at Washington. Congressman Rogers learned after an investigation. These were to be kept until the soldier or sailor was discharged. Eventually when such men were discharged few of them bothered to get their naturalization certificates. Then when they got back into civil life and wished to get their names on the voting list, they were first asked for their naturalization papers. These weren't forthcoming and many of the foreign-born men had no idea where they were. The first source of appeal was Congressman Rogers and at once he made an investigation and found where the certificates had been kept during the war.

He also ascertained that the owners of the certificates might obtain them by applying to the bureau of naturalization, Washington, D. C., and stating when and where the naturalization took place, together with the writer's present address.

The congressman stated today that any naturalized soldier or sailor who wished to obtain his papers might apply at his office and he would see that they were forwarded from Washington.

WOUND NOT SERIOUS

Rejected proposals of marriage are believed to have prompted Anastapha Mohammed of 2 rear of 15 Lakewood avenue to attempt death by suicide last evening. The young man, aged 20 years, was found by neighbors at his home shortly after 8 o'clock with a bullet wound in his left shoulder, admittedly self-inflicted. The police say that the man had been interested in a young woman for some time but that she has repeatedly scoffed at his proposals and avowals of love. The man was operated upon at St. John's hospital today and his wound is not believed of this city were married this morning.

The THOR is Never Late ---Never Disappoints

Laundresses all have human failings—often they are late; frequently they fail to show up. Which is only one advantage of the Thor Electric Washer—it is on the job when you are—early or late, as you wish. It never disappoints.

Makes the Maid Happy

With the Thor Electric Washer you can easily do the family washing yourself in an hour or so. If you have a maid or laundress, however, you'll find them far more contented and loyal if they merely have to supervise the use of the Electric Washer in place of actually toiling over the washboard. Free demonstration.

Good Flour and How To Know It
Broad flour made from hard, spring wheat, rich in gluten is more nutritious, and makes the elastic dough necessary for producing white bread. It is known by its creamy white color, by its gritty feeling, by its capacity for absorbing water, and by its caking but slightly when squeezed in the hand. That's how you know good flour—Bridal Veil short patent bread flour has always stood the test. Order today.
